STOLL HOPEFUL OF WIFE'S RETURN

Handwriting Expert Testifies Against Hauptmann

EARLY RETURN OF CAPTIVE IS NOW PREDICTED

"We Don't Want Kidnaper Caught; We're Not Interested in That," Says Louisville Woman's Husband — Newspaper Asserts She May Be Freed Within 24 Hours.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 16—(AP)—"We don't want the kidnaper caught. We're not interested in that. We only want Alice back and we're still hopeful she will be returned to us safely," Berry V. Stoll, husband of the kidnaped Alice Stoll, told the Associated Press in an interview today.

"Isn't it true that you feel more confident now than you did before?" Stoll was asked.

"I shaved this morning for the first time in five days," he replied smiling.

The interview was obtained on the lawn in front of the spacious Stoll home on Lime Kiln Lane near here, whence Mrs. Stoll was kidnaped Wednesday for $50,000 ransom.

Stoll came outside and met the interviewer after being attracted by the barking of Hector, Great Dane dog that roams the 16-acre estate.

Stoll appeared hopeful that his 26-year-old socially prominent wife would be returned safely. He said he has personally answered all telephone calls to the home since the day of the abduction, in the hope a contact could be made with the kidnaper.

Reliable Information Claimed.

The Louisville Times said today it has reliable information that Mrs. Stoll was alive Monday and may be freed within 24 hours.

The article adds: "The above information gathered by the Times is confirmed, in part, by the cheerfulness of Mrs. Stoll's relatives since Sunday, by the passing of two days without any appeals to the kidnaper over the radio and by the Associated Press report that the $50,000 ransom had been sent to Nashville."

The information published by The Times was taken to indicate that Mrs. Stoll or her kidnapers had found some way to communicate with the family.

Two Men Sought.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 16—(AP)—Solution of the Stoll kidnap mystery was represented by police today to rest on the capture of two

School Cyclers Adopt Code of Fair Practice To Prevent Accidents

"A fair code of bicycling" has been adopted by the cycle riders in Lincoln schools, according to Supt. M. C. Lefler. He said the code has three principal regulations, namely:

1. Ride on the right of the street, near the curb.
2. Signal for all turns and stops.
3. Stop for all buttons and signals.

The code was adopted by the students themselves. It came into being soon after a count, one day, showed 1,415 bicycles at 23 schools in the city. Irving has 436, Lincoln high had 278, and Whittier had 186.

The city has been fortunate in the low number of bicycle riders injured in recent years and the "code" has been adopted to keep the record.

LINDBERGH GIVES AVIATION VIEWS

Tells Commission Regular Ocean Air Service Not Far Away.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—(AP)—The belief that regular transoceanic flights are "not far away" was expressed today to the president's aviation commission by Charles A. Lindbergh.

Lindbergh told the commission he thought government subsidies to air lines would be necessary for a few years longer, but that the major transport lines ought within a reasonable time be self supporting.

Lindbergh said American aviation was ahead of all other countries, although private flying is lagging.

"There must be some government regulation of air transport lines—at least to the extent that any line carrying particularly passengers but operating as a transport line should meet certain requirements as to efficiency and personnel," Lindbergh said.

Asked his opinion regarding proposed floating airdromes and catapults for transoceanic flying, Lindbergh replied that "it seems

5 OFFICERS OF MORRO CASTLE ARE DENOUNCED

Accused of Negligence In Connection With Burning of Ship.

CAPTAIN WARMS IS HIT IN U. S. REPORT

Men Ordered to Appear at Hearing; Face Loss of Licenses.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—(AP)—The board of inquiry of the United States steamboat service in a report made public today charged Capt. William F. Warms and four staff officers of the Morro Castle with negligence in connection with the burning of the Ward liner and the attendant loss of 132 lives.

The preliminary report, signed by Capt. Karl C. Neilsen and James Smith, inspectors of the New York district, gives no cause or responsibility for the fire. It was explained the board's duty ends with determining if the officers were negligent in the performance of their duty.

Officers charged with negligence in addition to Warms are Chief Engineer Eben S. Abbott, Second Officer Clarence Hackney, Third Officer Harold Hansen and First Assistant Engineer Antonio R. Buija.

Ordered to Appear.

The officers charged with negligence are ordered to appear at a hearing October 29 to show cause why their licenses should not be suspended or revoked.

Acting Chief Officer Ivan Freeman was the only deck officer not found negligent in the report. Freeman, according to the testimony, the report says, fought the fire and later went forward and let go the anchor.

Five specifications are charged against Captain Warms, accusing him of delay "in sending out wireless distress signals" and "unduly jeopardizing the lives of passengers and crew," and of failure to stop the vessel after he was "aware that the superstructure was on fire and the vessel was steaming into a fresh breeze."

In addition, he was charged with failure to have fire hose ready for use, to have the fire doors closed and with having an insufficient number of men on watch at the time of the fire.

Kraj Tells of Being Sent To Marseille With King's Killer.

MELUN, France, Oct. 16—(AP)—The surete nationale announced today that Mio Kraj, alias Sylvester Malny, alias Chalny, had confessed he was sent to Marseille with "Petrus Kalemen" to assassinate King Alexander of Yugoslavia.

"Kalemen," whose real name was Vlada Georgieff, a Macedonian revolutionary leader who also called himself "Tschernocemsky," actually killed the king and was slain by police.

Authorities said Kraj told them he fled before the assassination because he feared he would injure other persons in the attempt to take the king's life.

"I am a Croat," declared Kraj. "What I did and what I wanted to do were for Croatian liberty."

The surete said that in his confession Kraj called Ezon Kvaternik the "delegate" of Dr. Ante Pavelich, head of the revolutionary secret society Ustashi.

Berge Declares NRA Will Go On; Predicts Return Of Democratic Congress; Urges Burke Election

"The question in the coming election, as I see it, will boil down to only one factor," Wendell Berge, former Lincoln man and present assistant U. S. attorney general, believes. "It will be a question of whether the voters want to continue to press forward to recovery or revert to the economic and political chaos of the old order."

Berge is in Lincoln for the first time in a year. He is in the middle west for a two-day speaking tour and will address a meeting at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night at the Lincoln hotel ballroom under the auspices of the county committee.

ACCORD REACHED BY CITY, STATE ON WATER MAIN

Agreement After Long Negotiation Averts Loss PWA Grant.

Building of the extension to the city water main at Twelfth and Washington to Twelfth and South by the city and laying of a main from South street to the state hospital and men's reformatory were assured Tuesday forenoon when city officials and the state board of control reached an agreement. The two projects involving an expenditure of about $85,000, $15,000 of it dependent on a PWA grant, had apparently been lost last Monday when the two groups were unable to find amicable grounds.

Following the meeting Tuesday in Attorney General Paul Good's office, spokesmen for both groups stated that both parties were satisfied and no further difficulties lay in the way of the projects. Under the terms of a tentative contract drawn Tuesday, the state will tap the Washington street main extension at Ninth and South streets, and build and maintain the pipes to the two state institutions with the board of control holding jurisdiction on whether the city may tap the state line for city use. The state will pay 10 cents per thousand gallons or the most favored rate, if less, for the water and the city is to build the booster plant at Sixth and South streets to insure sufficient pressure at the state institutions. The state will

ESCAPED YOUTH GIVES SELF UP

One Who Engaged In Gun Fight at Grand Island Surrenders.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Oct. 16—(AP)—Raymond Wilson, 19, year old gunman sought as one of the participants in the running gun fight between two Grand Island policemen and two bandits early Monday, surrendered to authorities Tuesday.

His companion, Melvin Quiring, who was shot down in the fight appeared to be winning his fight to save his leg. Quiring was shot in the left leg just above the ankle, the bone being badly shattered and blood circulation below the wound impaired.

Wilson, after spending Monday night in a hay mow climbed down and limped over to a man who was working in the barn yard.

"Do you want to make some money?" he asked. Though surprised, the man answered.

"Alright, turn me over to police. If there is any reward for me you can have it," Wilson replied.

Police were called and took the man to the station.

Timberlack Gets No Directed Verdict

Judge Proudfit Holds Is For Jury To Say Whether Man Was Intoxicated.

GENEVA, Neb., Oct. 16—(AP)—District Judge Proudfit Tuesday afternoon refused to direct a verdict for Austin Timberlack, charged with manslaughter, when the state rested its case. Thomas Keenan, defense counsel, contended Timberlack had not violated any speed law as Nebraska has no maximum limit and that the 3.2 per cent beer, all the state claimed Timberlack drank, was not intoxicating by statute.

Proudfit said it was not for the legislature to state what is intoxicating but that the jury would have to decide whether a person is intoxicated by his actions.

Education to Combat Divorce Is Advocated

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 16—(AP)—The nation's Episcopal leaders studied today the report of their joint commission on marriage, urging education for marriage as the only way to combat a world increase in divorce.

"The western church has worked under the present restrictive canon for centuries but nevertheless the divorce rate continues to increase all over the world, especially in the United States, but in England and Canada as well," the report said.

"The educative attitude is so new that we cannot yet look for results, but experience seems to make it clear that all hope of progress in our civilization lies along educative lines.

"Our Eighteenth amendment and the carnage by automobiles afford abundant evidence that laws are impotent unless based on public opinion."

MANILA IS SCENE OF DESOLATION AS TYPHOON HITS

At Least Ten Killed and Thousands Left Homeless by Storm.

OTHER SECTIONS SUFFER DAMAGE

Philippine Capital Business and Transportation at Standstill.

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 16—(AP)—At least ten persons lost their lives and thousands were left homeless by a sudden tropical typhoon which twisted Manila from a well-ordered city into a confusion of debris in the early morning hours today.

Five drownings in one section of the city were the first fatalities reported in the violent storm.

"It seems a miracle that there are not numerous deaths in view of the falling roofs, trees and poles," said Gov. Gen. Frank Murphy after a survey of the havoc-strewn city. "Everything has been done that can be done to prevent suffering."

He said estimates of damage in Manila alone varied from $250,000 to $2,500,000.

11½ Inches of Rain.

No reliable source attempted to guess the extent of damage north of the city where the gale reached its height as it roared across Luzon island ripping thatched huts of the natives to bits, flooding roads and blowing down power and communication lines.

Eleven and a half inches of rain poured down on the city in the 24 hours ended at 4 p. m., today, the weather bureau reported.

Manila was a scene of desolation as convicts, police and city workmen joined to clear debris-strewn streets.

Streets and parks were flooded. Thousands of trees were uprooted by the 57-mile an hour wind. Four ships and many small craft were washed ashore.

Business and transportation were at a standstill in this city of 325,000.

Unlike the lesser typhoons which preceded it in recent weeks, the tropical storm struck without warning. Filipino, European and American residents awoke in the midst of a howling storm and

HOLEMAN'S NAME OFF OF BALLOT

Attorney General Holds Filing Was Made Too Late.

The name of Harry E. Holeman, republican who filed by petition October 8 as an independent candidate for county attorney, will not go on the ballot as things stand at present, County Clerk J. B. Morgan announced Tuesday noon on receipt of an opinion by Attorney General Good stating that Holeman's filing is too late under the Nebraska statute.

Protest against placing Holeman's name on the ballot was filed by County Democratic Chairman Clark on behalf of Frank E. Penrod, an elector. The protest states that Holeman's filing was void because it was not entered 30 days prior to the election as required by statute, because it did not carry 200 bona fide signatures, and because it was filed for the purpose of dividing the protest vote against the incumbent, County Attorney Towle.

Morgan had accepted Holeman's filing on Monday, October 8, on the ground that October 7, technically the last day on which filings could be made, fell on Sunday, a legal holiday.

"I cannot presume to disregard the attorney general's opinion in this matter," Morgan said, "and therefore I shall leave Holeman's name off the ballot. If, of course,

ALIEN SLUMPS IN HIS CHAIR AS OSBORN TALKS

Witness Says Penmanship on Carpenter's Auto License Applications Similar to Handwriting on Lindbergh Ransom Notes — Various Peculiarities Cited.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18—(INS)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's penmanship on his applications for automobile license, was similar to the handwriting on the Lindbergh ransom notes, Albert S. Osborn, noted handwriting expert, testified this afternoon at the habeas corpus hearing which Hauptmann instituted in his fight to escape extradition to New Jersey to stand trial for the baby's murder.

Various peculiarities in the penmanship on both the ransom notes and the application cards were cited by the handwriting expert. Osborn noted the Latin script used by some Germans; the unusual formation of some of the letters; the repetition of errors and other things which to him were significant.

Osborn called attention to numerous errors in the small "h" throughout the penmanship of all exhibits. The word "light" for example, was spelled "lihgt" and the word "right" was spelled "rihgt." The word "the" was spelled "hte."

Letter "Y" Similar.

Throughout the various specimens the letter "y" was similar. The small "e" appeared below the line. The writing was in the "continental style." Characters which showed up the same in the writings were the figure "2," the small "a," the word "one" and the printed letter "N."

Osborn noted the letter "s" formed a small "O" opened at the top. He said double "e" was used for the letter "x." He called attention to the phrase in one of the ransom notes: "Cross the bridge and walk to the next corner." The same peculiarity in the letter "x" in "next" appeared in the letter "x" in "Bronx" on Hauptmann's automobile license application. Osborn had never seen an "x" like that before.

The "D" in "Dear Sir" on one of the ransom notes was characteristic of the "Ds" in Hauptmann's application. He said the "Ds" for the most part had no right hand side to them.

Osborn was still on the stand when court was adjourned until 2:25 this afternoon.

The prisoner, Hauptmann, looking pale and haggard, listened to the testimony intently. He sat slumped in his chair throughout the proceedings.

ADMITS SELLING ADS IMPROPERLY

Rodney Kohl's Request For Parole Is Taken Under Advisement.

Admiting that he improperly sold political advertising to candidates in the primary election, Arthur Rodney Kohl pleaded guilty to a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses when arraigned before District Judge Lincoln Frost.

The complaint against Kohl charged him on two counts, one of which was selling $85 worth of advertising to State Supt. C. W. Taylor on May 1 and the other of selling $85 worth to State Auditor W. B. Price on May 14. Kohl represented himself as an agent of the Railroad Yardmasters of North America and accepted personal checks of the state officers.

Kohl asked that he be given a suspended sentence on the grounds that a check was made out to the county attorney here on October 10 by his attorney J. B. Stemel of Des Moines, Ia., reimbursing officers for the money which he took from them. Judge Frost took his application under advisement pending an investigation by Probation Officer Leonard.

$40 TAKEN FROM LAUNDRY TRUCK

Money Stolen as Driver On Way to Bank It For Drug Store.

Forty dollars in cash was the loot obtained by the thief who took a money sack containing the bank deposit of the Douglas drug store from an Evans laundry truck some time Tuesday morning, Harold W. Lamson, driver of the truck told police.

Lamson said he has been taking the store's deposit to a bank daily for Martin J. Douglas, proprietor of the store. The money was stolen from the truck as Lamson made his laundry collections and wasn't missed until the driver stopped to make the deposit.

In addition to the cash, the thief got the drug store's deposit book and a few checks.

As Rogers Sees It

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Oct. 16 — I have been sitting here reading sermons delivered Sunday. On Sundays politics is transferred from the platform to the rostrum.

In October on election years it's awful hard for a sinner in search of spiritual advice, to drop into a church and receive any of it.

But instead he can hear an awful pretty theological talk on the NRA, fundamental principles, "and elect Brother Jones, he will lead us out of the mire of misery."

Yours, WILL.

Shelterbelt Planting Starts Next Spring; Land Will Be Leased, Says Acting Director Paul H. Roberts

In his first official statement to the press, Paul H. Roberts, acting director of the shelterbelt project, Tuesday outlined the plans, aims, and policies of the operative and administrative staff of the project.

He said actual planting would get under way next spring and that some planting would be done in every state involved during the summer. "The extent of the planting will depend upon the availability of seedlings," he said. "Contact work with the nurseries has already begun. In about a month we will begin contacting farmers about land."

Equitable Leases.

He said the land would be leased from the farmers for a period of not less than 10 years for an "equitable" annual rental. The lease will have an option to purchase but the terms of the act authorizing the project do not provide for outright purchase. Just what "equitable" will mean to farmers is one of the points which remains to be ironed out.

In the presence of R. D. Cochran, his public relations advisor, and Clayton W. Watkins, agricultural college extension, forestor, Mr. Roberts explained the details of the project and answered numerous questions.

Biggest of Kind.

"This project," he said, "is the biggest of its kind ever undertaken. It really represents a progressive experiment by man to ameliorate adverse natural conditions. It is an experiment in the sense that it is huge. Locally the planting of such belts has been successful. In this large project we expect to encounter all the adverse conditions possible.

"This office will supervise the actual planting and operation. The Lake States Forest experiment station under Mr. Raphael Zon will have charge of the research

A Great Frenchman

Women Are Braver

ARTHUR BRISBANE.

With the death of Raymond Poincaire, France loses a noble patriot and great statesman.

Four times prime minister of France, he was a war-time president of the French republic.

All of France knows that Poincaire, a devoted patriot, member of one of the most distinguished intellectual families of France, died of strain and overwork, to which he cheerfully submitted in the service of his country.

Happy the nation that, like France, can boast of so many devoted sons, shining with patriotism through the ages, from Duguesclin, the young fighter from Brittany, to the great old patriot Clemenceau, the scientist genius Pasteur, and all the long line of great French patriots, warriors, scholars, scientists.

Of Poincaire, now dead, it may be said that no party owned him, that he cared nothing for popularity, devoting all his intelligence and high principle to France; also that no breath of scandal was ever attached to his name. His moral and intellectual integrity were above reproach.

The driver of a truck in Kentucky says he saw Mrs. Stoll, kidnaped, alive, bound and gagged in an automobile. The kidnapers pointed a pistol at the truck driver, who went about his business.

He will not be generally criticized for doing no better, it being recognized among men that, when another has "the drop" on you you are justified in quitting.

The theory would not hold with thousands of women. Anyone of them would have jumped into that car, taking the risk of a bullet in an effort to free the woman.

Women are much braver than men, on the average. For proof of it, look at the wives of 1,200 striking miners threatening to commit mass suicide at the bottom of a coal mine in Hungary. All the energy of troops at the mouth of the mine is needed to keep back the wives of those miners, determined to go down and die with the fathers of their children. That is "the way women are."

The Reconstruction Finance corp tells those that have borrowed its hundreds of millions "leniency will be granted to all borrowers" wherever possible. Those that borrowed may put off payment by five years. This will be a great help to the borrowers, undoubtedly, and postpone the bad news for five years, in case any borrowers can't pay ever. That is bound to happen in certain instances, but the loss will properly be charged to "national recovery." A nation that can afford to lend ten thousand millions of dollars to foreign nations engaged in cutting each other's throats, never getting any of it back, can afford to lose a few hundred millions to its own citizens in the effort to overcome depression.

(Copyright, 1934, by King Features Syn.)

NONPOLITICAL NAMES WILL BE ALTERNATED

County clerks will be instructed by Secretary of State Swanson to have nonpolitical ballots printed with the names of candidates in each office division rotated. A clause was found in the nonpolitical election law providing for this at the general election as well as in the primaries. This practice has not always been followed heertofore, but alternating the names seems to be mandatory under the statute.

Disabled Ship Is Limping To Port

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16 — (AP) —The 5,000-ton freighter Point San Pedro, its No. 1 hold swept by fire and its rudder disabled, limped toward Portland from off the Oregon coast today.

The fire, which blazed for two hours last night, was reported under control at 1 01 a. m, and the freighter notified coast guard cutters rushing to its aid that it was proceeding by hand steering gear.

The Point San Pedro, owned by the McCormick Steamship Co, left here Saturday night for Portland. It carries a crew of about 30 men. No passengers are aboard.

Wind Huffs And Puffs, But Storm Passes Nebraska

Although the pins were set up for a first rate autumn storm in Nebraska Monday night and Tuesday morning, strong winds huffed and puffed and only succeeded in blowing up clouds of dust and chasing the storm clouds away. In Lincoln a 21-mile an hour wind was whipping the leaves off the trees during the night and only 07 of an inch of rain fell between 12 25 o'clock and 1·20 o'clock Tuesday morning.

A brilliant electrical display accompanied the brief squall but no damage was reported. The Iowa-Nebraska company had a few reports of interrupted current and at about 1.20 o'clock Tuesday morning there appeared to be a momentary break in the service which was immediately restored.

In the west end of the state the wind was stronger and from Sidney came reports of a mile a minute gale. Air traffic was held up because of dust storms in the western section. Unseasonably warm weather ranging from five to 15 degrees above normal over most of the state, had led weather observers to expect a severe storm and dropping barometers Monday night seemed to support the theory. A cyclonic condition was reported but storms failed to materialize.

Only a few light rains were reported, the heaviest being at Valentine where nearly an inch fell. Omaha had only .02. Temperatures remained warm over the entire state, the Lincoln mercury falling to a low of only 66 at 8 o'clock.

NEBRASKA ROADS HIGHLY PRAISED

Prof. Duff Declares Are Finest Anywhere for Money Spent.

"Considering the amount of money spent, Nebraska now has the finest system of highways of any state in the union," Prof. Carl M. Duff, professor of applied mechanics, at the University of Nebraska, told Sigma Xi members at their first fall meeting in Morrill hall Monday night.

"Nebraska can well be proud of her highway system," Prof. Duff said. "They have been constructed well and at a low cost. Advances in engineering knowledge have been applied practically and the state's highways have profited because of it."

Relates Problems.

Prof. Duff described in detail the various problems involved in the building of Nebraska highways, and laid particular stress upon the progress made in road work in the sandhills area.

The speaker described the building of concrete highways, graveled roads, bituminous mat and graded dirt highways and used two reels of motion pictures to illustrate his lecture.

Prof. Duff said that engineers have discovered that oiling highways is the best method of improving roads in the sandhill area and that Nebraska is now using that method of road improvement.

The meeting was presided over by Dr. D. A. Worcester, president.

3,000 Purple Orchids On Browning's Coffin

NEW YORK, Oct 16—(AP)—Edward W. (Daddy) Browning went to the grave as he had wished—with 3,000 purple orchids covering his coffin.

Victor Ross, attorney for the limelight-loving millionaire, said that employes of Browning's real estate firm had contributed $5,000 and scoured the city to get the flowers.

Mrs. Clarence Hood, whom Browning adopted when she was Dorothy Sunshine, and Mrs. Adele Browning, his divorced first wife, went to the funeral. Frances Heenan Browning, the "Peaches" who may get a widow's third of the estate, did not attend.

Princess Jacqueline Talking Bulldog, Dead

WATERVILLE, Me., Oct. 16 — (AP)— Princess Jacqueline, the pedigreed French bulldog which liked nothing better than to sit down and have a good, long chat, is dead.

Believed to be the only talking dog in the world, she succumbed to pneumonia at the age of 10 at the home of her mistress, Mrs. Mabel A. Robinson.

Princess Jacqueline was reputed to have a vocabulary of more than 20 words and to have used them all correctly. Dr. Knight Dunlap of Johns Hopkins university, once said she possessed a double voice capacity unique among canines of the world.

The Johns Hopkins examiners discovered the dog possessed vocal cords similar to those of humans.

Her first vocal effort was a terse request to go "out." Her first complete sentence was "I will," but occasionally, in perverse moods, she said "I won't." Nothing delighted Princess Jacqueline more than to explain that the device in which she was accustomed to ride up and down in bangor was an "elevator." "Bangor and "ball" were a couple of words the princess would utter trippingly from the tongue at times of extreme volubility.

Princess Jacqueline's vocal versatility led to a vaudeville contract which earned her $100 a performance during a series of appearances in "big time."

Novelist's Sight Is Restored With Pair Of New Eyes

Grafting of Cornea From Another Person Told At Surgical Meet.

BOSTON, Oct. 16—(AP)—Surgeons heard today how Daphne Muir, English novelist, saw the words "Very Heaven" as her first sight after nine years of total blindness that was ended by a modern surgical miracle.

She is attending the meeting of the American College of Surgeons Dr. Tudor Thomas, the Welsh surgeon who restored her sight, is not here.

Daphne Muir was blinded nine years ago in an automobile accident. The blindness was in both eyes and in both of them it was in the cornea, the outter covering, just in front of the pupil of the eye.

Normally the cornea is clear as glass. It may become opaque from injury or acid or disease. That shuts off all night, and that happened to Mrs. Muir. This darkening of the cornea is not the same as a cataract, the white growth which overspreads the lens lying inside the cornea.

Both Eyes Restored.

When the cornea alone is blinded, sight may be restored by grafting a new cornea. The new one at present has to come from another human eye.

Such gifts are available now and then. They come from eyes which have to be removed. The grafting, though very rare, is not new, but Mrs. Muir was the first person to have both eyes restored in this manner.

At the end of about two weeks the bandage was removed, and the large print of the title of a book was held be e her as a test

"Very Heaven" was the title. It was her own book, one of five, all written while she was blind.

CONTRACT AWARDED.

A contract for $7,942 for .3 miles of paving in Ord Monday was awarded to B. E. Goodhan of Ord, State Engineer A. T. Lobdell announced. Goodhan was low bidder on the project at the letting Oct. 4. The award was held up pending receipt of an agreement from Ord city officials as required by the federal government.

Hitler Considers Himself Chief of Germany for Life

BERLIN, Oct 16 -- (AP) — Adolf Hitler considers himself Germany's chief executive for a lifetime, Dr. Hans Lammers, state secretary of the reich chancellory, said last night in an address.

The law of August 1, 1934, under which Hitler took over the duties of president following the death of Paul Von Hindenburg, Lammers said, "means that previous constitutional provisions on duration of the office were rescinded."

"All German ministers will be obliged to take an oath of loyalty to Hitler in the near future," Dr Lammers said. "German ministers are responsible only to Der Fuehrer and no longer to the reichstag."

Dr. Lammers said Hitler does not want Germany to have a documentary constitution, and explained the fealty oath for ministers would eliminate "the possibility of a minister voting against the leader."

DR. R. E. LEE, Director of Fleischmann Health Research, announces:

DR. R. E. LEE, who has been Director of Fleischmann Health Research for years, is one of the foremost authorities on the subject of Yeast for Health.

Tested on hundreds of "chronic cases" in 13 noted U.S., 12 European clinics. READ THE RESULTS!

"ASTONISHING." "Never such quick results from yeast." Doctors who tested it report:—"Constipation cases relieved in a few days." "Amazing percentage of skin cases corrected." "Indigestion relieved very soon." "Patients felt better almost immediately."

"XR" Yeast acts more quickly than former yeasts because it's rich in hormone-like substances which stimulate digestive juices and action.

Copyright, 1934, Standard Brands Incorporated

New, quicker-acting Yeast discovered!

—corrects Constipation, Indigestion, Bad Skin, Run-down Condition much faster than before! It is very rich in hormone-like substances*

GOOD NEWS, for millions! If you've ever tried yeast—ever thought of trying it—read about this astonishing new yeast! Your questions are answered by Dr. Lee, below:—

1. Is it really a new Yeast?

Yes! An entirely new "strain" or variety. It acts more vigorously inside you . . . faster! After years of research, a famous bacteriologist in a leading American medical college isolated this new, stronger strain—grew it—was astounded by its action.

2. How does it work?

Most constipation and indigestion come from a slowing up of digestive juices and muscles.

*New "XR" Yeast is rich in hormone-like substances ("activators," as in the body's glands) which stimulate digestive secretions and muscles as nothing else can!

3. How does it correct Constipation and Indigestion sooner?

By making your digestive juices flow faster, and digestive muscles work harder—from stomach on down! Your food is better "churned"—softened—digested . . . you no longer have that "stuffed" feeling, heartburn, indigestion after meals. Also, wastes are more quickly carried through the body, disposed of.

Fleischmann's "XR" Yeast "normalizes" you . . . really corrects constipation and indigestion! How different from harsh cathartics!

NEW, STRONGER "STRAIN" of Yeast, discovered in great U. S. medical college, speeds flow of digestive juices, strengthens digestive muscles. Vitamin A (newly-added) combats colds!

4. Why does it clear up Skin Troubles (pimples, boils, etc.) faster?

Your skin, being an organ of elimination (just like the bowels and kidneys) "breaks out" when your system is overloaded with impurities.

By ridding you of poisons quicker, "XR" Yeast clears your blood sooner. Your skin gains "tone." Pimples, boils, etc., disappear in shorter time.

5. Will "Run-down" feeling go?

Yes, if this condition is caused by self-poisoning. Many patients feel better in 24 hours! The time, in your case, will depend on your condition. But you should get more "good" from your food—have better appetite—much more "pep."

"XR" Yeast is particularly needed by people over 40, to combat the slowing of digestive secretions occurring most rapidly after that age . . . and so retard "old age."

6. Will it cure Rheumatism?

No—but in a large percentage of cases it helps! Rheumatism is often connected with an accumulation of digestive poisons—a condition which "XR" Yeast corrects astonishingly.

7. Will Headaches cease?

Many headaches come from poisons in the blood or (as some doctors believe) pressure on the nerves—both troubles "XR" Yeast corrects quickly. Headaches often cease as a result.

8. Will it prevent Colds?

It helps!—by freeing your system of poisons and supplying Vitamin A, the "infection-preventing" vitamin. Each cake of Fleischmann's "XR" Yeast is rich in Vitamin A, as well as Vitamins B, D and G . . . four vitamins we need!

9. Why has it a creamier color?

That's the extremely important newly-added Vitamin A, which gives carrots and squash their natural color and much of their healthfulness.

IMPORTANT!

Eat 3 cakes of Fleischmann's "XR" Yeast daily—plain or dissolved in one-third glass of water—preferably half an hour before each meal. If you're taking cathartics, discontinue them gradually. Eat "XR" Yeast regularly, until you feel thoroughly well. Get a supply and start now!

Marian Gordon

by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Marian Gordon, reporter for the Morning Dispatch, returns from hearing a jury acquit William Brown of the charge that he accepted $10,000 to pass defective workmanship on a high school building, to learn that her former school friend, Silver Hondon, has been granted a divorce from her husband, Cliff. Then her editor telephones that Cliff has shot himself, and sends Marian to Reno to break the news to Silver. Marian arrives in the midst of a celebration

"You're here as Silver's friend?" he asked.

Chapter Seven.

STRANGE SOBS.

For a moment Silver stared at Marian in surprise Then, jumping down, she came forward, hands outstretched

"Ian.. Marian Gordon, of all people What are you doing way out here at this hour of the night?"

She didn't wait for an answer but turned to the other guests "Folks, this is Marian Gordon, an old school friend of mine, and Marian...the gang They're here to help celeorate my free—"

"Please!" Marian interrupted because she could not bear to have that word freedom completed. Something in her voice checked the other girl

"It's bad news, isn't it?" she asked. "Have you had a cable from Honolulu, is it mother and dad?"

"No, Silver, but can't we go some place where we will be alone?"

It wasn't necessary As though divining a serious climax to their gaiety, the guests had started to gather wraps

They filed out in twos and threes, all except one man Marian looked at him expectantly. At the first glance he seemed older than the rest, then she realized this was due to prematurely grey hair. His face was young, dark eyes alert, but there was something worldly and old in the cynical expression of the mouth beneath its short clipped moustache

"I'll stay," he announced and added, "You might need me"

Silver was serious now. Some of the rich color had faded from her cheeks and her eyes were dilated with alarm . "Tell me, Ian, quick," she begged.

Marian dreaded the ordeal. It seemed utterly heartless to crush the laughter in this child-woman She seemed like a child playing woman with those curls caught in a knot on top of her head.

"It's Cliff," she began

Silver reached for the support of the strange man's arm, curved her hand about his wrist—"You mean he's dead?"

"No, not yet At least he was still living when we left Sacramento"

Quickly then she explained while Silver, lacquered red finger nails digging into the stranger's wrist, listened When Marian had stopped she left him and came close to her. "Tell me," she demanded looking straight into her eyes, "Will he die?"

"I don't know," she answered truthfully.

"Marian!" Now the red lacquered nails were digging into her arm, "Max!" there was hysteria in her voice, "Cliff . . . Cliff dying" her voice arose in a shrill laugh that changed to a sob, and then with a gesture of abandon, she threw herself into the big chair, and buried her head in her arms, shoulders shaking convulsively.

Marian, alarmed, leaned over her. "Silver, don t do that," she begged, "he has a chance to live. I know he has Don't cry like that." She sought to take her into her arms and quiet her with her own strength. She had failed miserably in her mission. Surely she could have broken the news more tactfully

"Here, drink this" Like a reprimand the man called Max spoke. He thrust a glass into Marian's hand and lifted Silver s head from the arm of the chair.

"Drink it," he ordered sharply

Silver drank, and Marian, looking up found the man's eyes probing hers, his thin lips twisted in a sardonic grin.

"I suppose you're here as Silver s friend?" he questioned.

Marian handed the now empty glass back to him and answered with her innate honesty, 'No I m here as a newspaper reporter"

"I see," again the crooked smile, 'the old friend uses her school connections to force her way into Mrs Hondon's privacy so she may break the news of the tragedy, then tell the world how Mrs Hondon stood the shock It should make a fine story. Beautiful Divorcee Celebrates Freedom from Heart-broken Husband, while he Lies Dying in Hospital A fine opportunity to tell how she cried when you—"

'I wasn t crying

Max and Marian started in surprise Silver was sitting up crooks dry, eyes brilliant with unshed tears

I was laughing" she said "yes I know what you thought, but why should I cry? He did it to save me He said he'd teach me a lesson This is his way trying to shame me before the whole world, trying to make people believe I drove him to it."

'Silver" cried Marian

"What do you know about it?" the other continued in her low, bitter voice you run around in your own little pencil and listen to people tell of their troubles but what do you know of them? You aren't capable of loving or hating I hate Cliff Hondon The only thing his death can mean to me is relief—"

'Silver, for heaven's sake get hold of yourself Max shook her shoulder with a rough hand "They to remembered you're talking to a newspaper woman '

"No, I'm not," she countered "I know Marian. I've known her since she came to school, a long, scrawny kid with green eyes and freckles She s the kind of a girl who believes in angels and Santa Claus. The only time she s even half human is when she loses her temper"

"Well, you'd better see she doesn t lose her temper with you," advised Hamlin

"She won t," Silver answered with a queer little laugh. "I'm going to show her the letter that came from Cliff this afternoon and then she'll see what a cad he was Do you think he'd chose that room in which to kill himself if he'd loved me? Oh, no, he'd have gone away some place where he couldn t be identified He's trying to shame me" She arose and looked at their distressed expression "I'll prove it," and she disappeared into an inner room

"You'd better sit down," said Max, as Marian shivered with fatigue He pushed the big chair towards the fire and stirred the coals

Silver returned to thrust a block of ink-scrawled pages into Marian's hands

"Read that,' she demanded.

LUTHERAN HELP ASKED BY DRYS

Urge Referendum Defeat Until Control System Is Set Up.

A plea to defer any action on repeal of state prohibition until control methods have been set up by the legislature went out from the United Temperance Campaign committee Tuesday as form letters were sent to all Lutheran ministers of the state If citizens would defeat the referendum proposal repealing prohibition and wait until methods of liquor sale and control had been adopted, then they "would know what they were voting for, and would not be asked to 'buy a pig in a poke' as they now are," the letter said

H F Martin, Fremont, is state committee chairman

"This is not a religious question, nor is it a political issue," the letter said "It is purely social and civic legislation and should be decided wholly on its probable effects on society The question is, will there be more or less drinking if the law is repealed? All right-minded people agree that there is too much drinking now."

The letter said passage of the repeal amendment November 6 would "leave the field wide open for any system of sale and control that the state legislature might be induced to adopt, and it is very certain that the liquor lobby would spare neither money nor labor to secure the adoption of the system that promised the largest possible consumption with the least possible restriction"

The letter suggested this be brought to the attention of congregations so that "actual repeal of state prohibition be postponed until the people may know how liquor will be handled if and when it shall become legal"

WOMAN HELD IN SLAYING OF MAN

ATLANTA, Oct. 15—(AP)—Jealousy was blamed today by Mrs Fannie Nance for the fatal shooting of the man she planned to marry next spring George W King, 46, in whose death her sister, Mrs. Mary Koester, is held for murder.

King was shot and killed at Mrs Nance's residence, where he was a boarder, yesterday morning

Police quoted Mrs. Koester as saying she brooded over the attention of King to Mrs Nance Mrs Koester and her husband also lived in the Nance home

Mrs Nance said Mrs Koester turned the gun on her after shooting King, and that King, mortally wounded, knocked her to the floor before she could fire

Mrs Nance also said Koester s dismissal Saturday as manager of Mrs Nance's dairy may have had something to do with the shooting

Bond was fixed at $300 and trial set for October 19.

Damage Suit Filed—A personal injury suit in which she seeks to recover damages of $20,000 was filed in District court Tuesday by Anna M. Douglass against the M. L. Rawlings Ice company. Mrs. Douglass states that she was seriously injured September 2 when the car in which she was riding with her husband, Sam Douglass, crashed into the rear of a tractor and trailer owned by the ice company which was parked on highway No. 77 eleven miles south of Lincoln. She charges that the tractor was illegally parked.

Mrs. Holland charges Schamp with negligence in an accident which occurred at the intersection of Ninth and J streets on Nov. 10, 1933. She alleges that she and her four minor children, one of whom she was carrying in her arms, were crossing the street on foot when Schamp's car struck her, knocking her to the pavement and injuring herself and her child. Schamp in his answer alleges that the Hollands were crossing the street diagonally.

The scheme matches the heavy marble columns in the center of the bank.

COUNTY FARM HEARING HELD

Demo Committee Opens Own Probe; Examines Five Witnesses.

Although only seven members of their "committee of ten" were present, Lancaster county democrats proceeded with their examination of witnesses who testified as to conditions at the county farm at a public hearing held Monday evening at the Grand hotel.

Witnesses brought numerous charges and the hearing was continued over until Wednesday evening. Chief witness was Mrs. Marie Jenkins, 67, former inmate of the farm whose affidavit of complaints was filed with county commissioners two months ago. Mrs. Jenkins testified Monday evening to "inhumanities" which she said she was compelled to suffer at the hands of Supt. J. T. Christian.

Other complaining witnesses who appeared at the hearing and were examined by Anton Jensen and George Craven who conducted proceedings, were Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Schofield, former superintendent and matron, Frank A. Franks, and Ray F. Stowe.

Mr. and Mrs. Schofield told of an altercation with Christian which they said was witnessed by County Commissioners Johnson and Bennett.

Frank Copley, chairman of the committee of ten, announced that Superintendent Christian who had been asked to appear refused to do so.

High Court Rejects Hensley Damage Case

Finis was written Tuesday in Stacy Hensley's losing suit to collect $14,000 damages which a Dixon county jury once awarded him against the M. & O. railroad for personal injuries sustained in an accident, when the Nebraska supreme court clerk's office received a mandate from the United States Supreme court refusing a writ of certiorari which the plaintiff had asked to get the case before that tribunal for hearing on appeal.

This leaves in effect the decision of the state high bench affirming that of the District court in Dixon county, which on second trial of the suit dismissed it. The first trial, in which Hensley was given $14.000 damages, had previously been taken to the state Supreme court, where the judgment was reversed and set aside.

Hensley was a section hand and suffered severe hurts by falling between two cars while engaged in handling a heavy iron. The first verdict was upset on appeal in a decision by the state Supreme court holding that he was not engaged in interstate commerce at the time of the accident and hence could not recover under a federal statute.

Will Seek Funds To Fight Tuberculosis

Quarters Of Lincoln and Lancaster County Association Becomes Very Busy Place.

Feverish activity will greet visitors at the offices of the Lincoln and Lancaster County Tuberculosis association from now until Thanksgiving as volunteer workers fold and insert into envelopes the 2,000,000 Christmas seals that have recently arrived.

Boy Scouts and Campfire girls will be called into service during the remaining days of October and the month of November to aid in the Christmas seal campaign, which opens in Lincoln and Lancaster county the day after Thanksgiving. When the stamps are folded volunteer women will assemble them in letters for final distribution. Already Mrs. J. E. Miller has spent several hours in the office aiding with the work.

"Approximately 18,000 letters will be sent to residents of Lancaster county immediately after Thanksgiving," explained Willard F. Hird, seal sale chairman. "Each letter will contain 200 or more Christmas seals, which sell for 1 cent each. Health bonds will be sent to organizations and individuals who, in addition to the purchase of seals, have been accustomed to make a special contribution to the work of the Tuberculosis association.

"Our work is financed entirely by the sale of these Christmas seals and health bonds. No support is received from any other source. One great virtue of this method of raising necessary funds for this most essential public health work is that it offers the opportunity for the participation of everyone in the community.

"We do not ask large contributions from a few persons. Smaller contributions from all persons mean a great deal more to the permanency and thoroughness of our work."

State Medical Group And FERA Co-operate

The state medical assication of Nebraska is being used as a setup for the advisory medical service in the various counties, which the state FERA has arranged to be carried on through physicians on a part time compensation basis. The association has 12 district counsellors, who will serve as an advisory board to the state relief administration. They will appoint medical advisors in the counties of their respective districts.

Duties of the county advisors will be to decide when medical service is required for persons on relief; authorize minor surgical operations when the condition of patients calls for them; pass upon the need for dental service; and other matters of local detail.

General regulations governing the work of district counsellors and county advisors have been promulgated by Dr. H. J. Hohlen of Lincoln, who has been employed as medical supervisor for the state.

Custodian No Longer To Toll School's Bells

No longer will the custodian at Bethany school be forced to gallop around the building and ring bells 17 times a day. He will be freed from clock watching and bell ringing in the very near future.

The board of education Tuesday voted to spend $60 to install electric bells to be operated by a clerk in the principal's office. Supt. M. C. Lefler told the board the old system was used as a matter of economy, but that he thought the economy of ringing 17 bells a day was somehow no economy at all.

Abandon This Year's State Husking Contest

There'll be no Nebraska cornhusking contest this fall, but Sherman Henriksen of Lancaster county will defend his national championship title in the competition to be held next month at Minnesota.

Harry Brown of Cuming county, runner-up to Henriksen in both state and national contests last year, will also be entered in the Minnesota battle for the bangboards. The drouth left such a poor corn crop in the state that many counties could not have held contests, T. A. Leadley announced in making public definite decision not to hold the state championship event.

MANY HOUSING LOANS CLOSED

Millions Of Dollars Advanced For Use Making Improvements.

OMAHA, Oct. 16—(AP)—About $170,000 in "Better housing" loans have been made in Omaha, according to a report made to federal housing leaders, contractors and building supply dealers from three states here today.

Alan McDonald, chairman of the Omaha better housing committee, said that about 140 FHA loans had been made by national banks here, and that building and loan associations had advanced money for about 200 remodeling operations. The average loan was figured at $500.

Arthur M. East and H. R. Northup, Washington officials of the industry division, federal housing administration, were the principal speakers at the regional conference. Mr. MacDonald presided.

Mr. Northup reported that in the first nine weeks of the national campaign, $10,000 loans totaling $4,600,000 had been reported to Washington. He stressed the ease of getting credit with the FHA guarantee.

CLAIMS BONUS ISSUE CHANGED

Reynolds Says Will Not Lead Fight Against Early Payment.

OMAHA, Oct. 16—(AP) — A statement denying that he would lead the anti-bonus forces at the American Legion's national convention at Miami next week, or that Nebraska would again "play a forlorn part," was issued here today by Sam Reynolds of Omaha, legion national committeeman from Nebraska.

"The Nebraska delegation has no such intention although it goes to the convention uninstructed. My own views on the bonus have not changed, but the complexion of the question itself has changed completely," said Reynolds.

Reynolds added that two years ago the Nebraska legion men advanced two arguments against the legion demanding cash payment of the bonus. One was that to do so at that time would "crucify" the disabled veterans and the other was the contention that in the early part of the depression, with the government striving to balance the budget, the veteran should do his part. The first prediction, said Reynolds, came true.

"The disabled were crucified unmercifully by the passage of the economy act However, last year a reunited unselfish and powerful legion succeeded in having congress correct the cruel injustice of that act That argument used at Portland no longer holds water," he said.

Reynolds added that the second contention at Portland is also passed "now that a balanced budget is not a part of the government's program."

Credit Men Will Be Hosts at Conference

The Lincoln association of credit men will be host to a tri-state conference in February it was decided at a business meeting Monday evening. Perry W. Branch, James A. Harvey, Lloyd Burt and B. G. Clark were named an executive board in charge of plans for the conference.

E. N. Van Horne, president of the Continental National bank and former president of the Nebraska Bankers association, described the importance of credit departments in today's banking business in the featured talk of the dinner program at the Cornhusker hotel. Sound practice demands that at least 50 per cent of the year's earnings should stay in a business and not be paid out in dividends, he warned.

The importance of careful analysis of a prospective borrower's operating statement, was emphasized by Mr. Van Horne.

Monday night's attendance contest, one of a series being held by the credit men this fall, was won by Ed Foster's team, victorious by one point over Dudley Price's team. Louis E. Hunt, president, was in charge of the meeting.

Urges County-Wide Fight On Bindweed

Purbaugh Says October Best Month to Kill Pest; Warns Is More Dangerous Than Drouth.

A county-wide campaign against bindweed and pepper grass was urged Tuesday by County Agent J. F. Purbaugh who said that the former constitutes "the most formidable menace of all to farmers and is a danger compared to which drouth and chinch bugs are unimportant."

"Unless bindweed is stamped out thoroughly the day will come when Lancaster county farms are hopelessly overrun with it and consequently valueless," he declared.

The co-operation of the county and state highway departments and the railroads is needed in fighting the weed, Purbaugh said, and he asserted that October was the ideal month during which to fight bindweed with sodium chlorate.

The bindweed menace is all the more perilous, according to Purbaugh, because it costs so much to fight it. The sodium chlorate, in wholesale quantities, costs about $8.75 per hundredweight and 480 pounds are needed to kill the bindweed in an acre, he said. But except for clean tillage in the spring which helps a good deal, sodium chlorate is about the only known effective means of coping with the pest, he added.

Both Purbaugh and County Engineer Louis Weaver said that the spread of bindweed in Lancaster county is alarming and they emphasized that if it is not checked within two or three years the situation will be critical.

Armed Robbers Raid Business Houses; Bank Depositors To Get Cash

OMAHA BANDITS STAGE HOLDUPS

Rob Stores, Filling Station and Slug One Attendant.

OMAHA, Oct 16—(AP)—Two overalled bandits flourishing revolvers in trembling hands and shouting threats to customers held up two grocery stores within 20 minutes Monday night and escaped with $120. While police were investigating the robbery of the Fort street pharmacy, where they had obtained $100, the pair raided Gene's food center, a short distance away and took $20.

Several hours later the same pair robbed W. H. Martin attendant at a gasoline station, took $20, and slugged him when he was slow in complying to their commands. As the holdupmen left, Martin ran. They did not shoot.

Harry Rosenblum, a downtown grocer, was slugged by another pair of bandits he foiled in an attempt to rob him as he left his store with the day's receipts.

MANSLAUGHTER TRIAL STARTED

Testimony Begins In Case Against Timberlack as Result Fatal Crash.

GENEVA, Neb., Oct. 16—(AP)—The trial of Austin Timberlack on a manslaughter charge, which began here Monday, proceeded slowly. Sheriff Frank Steinacher, the first witness, expressed the opinion Timberlack was intoxicated when the truck he was driving crashed into a bridge near Fairmont September 12. Harold Meteer, 22, of Lushton, and Peter Dick, 64, of Fairmont, riding with Timberlack, were injured fatally in the crash.

Steinacher also testified as to the tracks at the scene of the accident. Pictures of the scene were introduced in evidence over the objections of defense counsel.

Joe Kolorik, Crete, told the jury Timberlack's truck passed him east of Exeter and was zig-zagging down the road at the time.

Dr. Ashby of Fairmont described the injuries of the men and asserted the symptoms of intoxication might have been confused with the effects of shock.

Doctors Wiggins and O'Brien of Exeter both testified Timerlack's breath had a liquor odor after the crash, but corroborated Dr. Ashby's statement about the possibility that the physical symptoms might have been due to shock.

R. B. Willard of Lincoln, state chemist, Tuesday testified that an analysis of beer found in Timberlack's truck showed it was fermented 3.2 per cent beer.

William Maier, a farmer residing near the scene of the accident, said Timberlack was drunk and his face covered with blood when witness came on the scene. Harold Maier, James Stych and John Morgan told of pulling Meteer from the cab of the truck. They said Timberlack was pale and nervous but under cross-examination said they could not say whether he was drunk.

Cochran In Denial He Would Be Under Control Of Bryan

OMAHA, Oct. 16—(AP)—R. L. Cochran, democratic candidate for governor, Monday night denied he would be under the domination of Governor Bryan if elected. He spoke before a meeting of Douglas county women, heralded as exclusively a women's affair, although 100 men attended.

"Dwight Griswold, my republican opponent, charges Governor Bryan would in reality be governor should I win," said Mr. Cochran. "It is just as sensible to say former Governor Weaver would control me. I gave loyal service to both."

Cochran's speech climaxed a series of addresses during the day. In one he declared unequivocally in favor of repeal of the state prohibition law. In another he called for voters to repudiate the republican platform and the "reactionary record" of his opponent.

START WORK ON POWER PROJECT

Contractors Begin Excavation For Canal On Columbus Job.

COLUMBUS, Neb, Oct. 16—(AP)—Big scale excavation for the Columbus-Genoa power canal started Monday afternoon when a Diesel powered dragline, owned by Haas, Doughty and Jones company of San Francisco, swung into action on the James Donoghue farm, seven miles northwest of Columbus.

Although there was no formal ceremony, a number of officials of the power district, representatives of the PWA, Congressman Howard, Mayor Nichols and chamber of commerce officials, as well as other interested persons, were on hand to see the big shovel take its first bite.

Work will extend north and west to a point north of Monroe. The outfit will be operated 24 hours a day, 6 days a week, and possibly later 7 days a week. Approximately 4,000 yards of dirt will be moved every 24 hours.

The San Francisco firm will employ local labor for the dragline crews if men can be found who can qualify to handle the machines with reasonable instruction from the men in charge.

It will not be until next year that the work requiring large numbers of common laborers will be reached. The rough excavation work is largely a forerunner to the broad scale employment which the project will provide later. Construction of the dam, bridges over the canal, numerous concrete structures along its course, and erection of power houses and transmission lines will be features affording employment on a large scale.

Mathers May Vote For Some Measures Democratic Origin

KEARNEY, Neb., Oct. 16—(AP)—A. N. Mathers, republican candidate for congress in the fifth district, Monday promised to cooperate with every democratic administration measure he may think would be in the people's interest. Mathers, addressing the Kearney chamber of commerce, said he refused to condemn the democratic program as a whole, and would not vote against everything of democratic origin simply because of its origin.

Funeral services for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Mestecky, sr., will be held Wednesday. Herbert Beck, also a passenger in the car, was brought to an Omaha hospital, from Central City Monday suffering with a fractured hip and broken ankle.

Small Omaha Child Killed When Struck By a Trolley Car

OMAHA, Oct. 16—Mary Virginia McCandless, 18 months old, was fatally injured here Monday when run over by a street car. Mary Virginia had been playing in a fenced yard next door to her home, but wandered into the street when her mother opened the fence door and stopped to gather up the child's toys before taking her home for lunch. The girl walked into the path of the car, witnesses told police.

RELIEF BUYING PREVENTS RUIN

Nebraska Stockman Says Federal Program Has Been Boon.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16—(AP)—Relief buying of cattle and sheep by the government was hailed here at the Institute of American Meat Packers convention as having saved western live stock men from ruin through drouth and profitless prices.

The government's emergency program was praised in addresses by Chris J. Abbott of Alliance, Neb., an executive committeeman of the American National Livestock association, and G. B. Thorne, of Washington, representing the AAA.

Declaring stockmen were "happy" at congress' enactment of the agricultural adjustment act, Abbott expressed a hope that producers and packers might some day establish a national policy to stabilize livestock prices.

Abbott criticized a high processing tax as tending to "destroy any industry" by inducing consumers to produce their own goods whenever possible.

"The drouth . . . will come nearer raising the products of agriculture to a parity with industry than any artificial measure yet tried." Abbott said. "Without relief buying by the government the cattle and sheep producers of the west would have been ruined."

Thorne told the convention that the government program recognizes the need of maintaining foundation stock in important breeding areas and that the immediate problem is "to get the greatest number of the remaining animals through the winter."

NORRIS EXPLAINS UNICAMERAL PLAN IN O'NEILL TALK

O'NEILL, Neb., Oct. 16—(AP)—Senator George W. Norris Monday night estimated his unicameral legislature plan would save the taxpayers of Nebraska "hundreds of thousands" of dollars. He addressed a crowd estimated at nearly 800 here. The meeting was preceded by a banquet given in the senator's honor by about 100 O'Neill businessmen.

Attacking charges of ulterior motives or insincerity, Norris said, "I haven't many more years to live, why should I deceive you now?"

Norris speaks Tuesday at Chadron. He was introduced at the banquet here by County Attorney J. D. Cronin and at the one-house legislature meeting by George M. Harrington.

BANK RECEIVER WINS JUDGMENT

Total of $15,000 Against Flannigans, Mains, Bond Company.

O'NEILL, Neb., Oct. 16—(AP)—District Judge Dickson Monday gave the receiver of the failed Citizens State bank of Stuart judgments for $5,000 each against John M. Flannigan, James C. Flannigan and Thomas S. Mains of O'Neill.

The Flannigans are serving terms in the penitentiary on charges of irregularities growing out of the bank's collapse. E. H. Luikart, as receiver of the bank, brought suit on the personal bonds of the men, and the case was tried here early in March. The decision has been pending since then.

The receiver asked reimbursement of the depositors for alleged excessive salaries drawn by the men, alleged unlawful withdrawals, and other alleged improper transactions.

The $15,000 judgment also was directed against the American Securities company, surety on the bonds.

He was widely known in Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming.

Charge Omaha Man Violated Game Law

BLOOMFIELD, Neb., Oct. 16—(AP—William Colmfee of Omaha was arrested here Sunday night by City Marshal Hassman, who said he found thirty-eight pheasants in Colmfee's automobile. The automobile was searched at the order of County Attorney Burbridge after farmers living south of here resented Colmfe's hunting on their land and reported him to the county attorney. He is charged with having bagged more than the legal limit of birds. He denied the charge and was held on a $1,200 bond to appear for hearing October 25.

SPRING FLOWERS BLOOM.
(Special to The Star)

CRETE, Neb., Oct. 16—It may be October but it seems like spring at Crete when one drives by the Edward C. Johnson home at the outskirts of the city and discovers that the bridal wreath hedge there is in full bloom.

Mrs. Rudolph Winkler has violets in bloom and her roses too are blooming in profusion.

Another oddity is reported by Anton Kohl who has walnut trees bearing nuts, old leaves, new leaves and blossoms.

WHY THIS RARE MOUNTAIN COFFEE GIVES YOU RICHER TANG AND FLAVOR

—Really DIFFERENT from Any Other Coffee Known!—

THERE'S no mystery about coffee. There are many grades of coffee just as there are many grades of silverware. The cheaper coffee comes from the lowlands. And the richer-flavored coffees come from high up in the mountains.

Because Folger's is real mountain coffee—it is deliciously different from the lowland coffees used in ordinary brands. Folger's is grown on tiny plantations high up in the mountains—where clear, bright sunshine, steaming tropical rains, and an odd type of volcanic soil combine to give coffee a rare winy tang and extra rich flavor that makes ordinary coffee taste thin and flat by comparison.

Experts know this. And they'll tell you there's no way of roasting or packaging coffee that can bring out flavor that nature didn't put there in the first place! Delicious tang and flavor has to be grown in—as it is in Folger's!

It may be news to you—but you can easily afford to serve this finer coffee in your home. For even though you may pay a few pennies more per pound for Folger's—it's so much richer in flavor that you can use ¼th less! That means you get more cups—and after all, that's the way to figure a coffee's cost—by its price per cup.

Folger's fresh mountain flavor is especially appealing to men! This coffee is served in the dining cars of 10 great railroads; in many of the finest hotels and clubs where men's tastes are catered to! Order Folger's for your home today!

TO GET BETTER DRIP COFFEE—Use FOLGER'S DRIP GRIND—Vacuum-Packed! You can't get best results by using cheap coffee or the wrong granulation. Folger's Drip Grind is the same mountain coffee—scientifically granulated for use in dripmakers or vacuum coffee makers. It's more economical, and gives a richer, fuller flavor.

Minerva's Mail

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

Inner Turmoil.

Sometimes it is necessary to get hold of the subconscious mind and try sincerely to understand its workings, its repressions, its energies and possibilities, its emotional power. Too much introspection leads to unfortunate gloomy and neurotic tendencies. But too little—shall we call it soul searching?—leaves an individual groping in the dark when enlightenment might be secured.

When your life seems all wrong, when you find nothing but unrest in all your undertakings, when you are out of step with your entire world, then it's time to turn your thoughts inward for a while.

"Charles" writes of his complete dissatisfaction with life. He's a young man, a rugged, healthy young fellow of twenty-six, but he's all awry with himself. He's been engaged to two girls and now he doesn't know if he's ever going to care for any girl, if, in fact, he ever cared for either of these. He's fed up with his job, and he's bored with his family.

From hints that he gives, I fancy that the young man has had an overdose of praise and petting all up the line, from his own mother through his school life and his experiences with girls. He's suffered a let-down, since he's been out on his own, away from athletic life and not involved in any direct affair of the heart. So everything suddenly seems dead wrong to him. He hasn't any audience. His mother's interest is, naturally, concentrated on the younger sister and brother, who need her direct help.

Whatever the cause of his inner turmoil, he can find it if he digs deep into his inner self and tries to answer a few questions honestly as to what he wants and why, what he should have and why, and what mistakes he has made, is making and is likely to make. He has failed to make the proper adjustments and maintain harmony with himself.

She Seems Evasive.

Dear Minerva: I am very much in love with a girl whom I have been dating on an average of about once a week for about six months. She is the only girl I have ever really paid any attention to and cared to see more than once or twice. Since I met her I have not gone with anyone else and so far as I know she goes very seldom if at all with other fellows. Now for my problem.

I cannot understand her actions lately. When I ask to see her she gives all kinds of excuses and keeps postponing dates, yet when eventually she will see me she always appears to have a good time and asks me to call again. She treats me very nice when I am with her, appears grateful for favors and seems to want to continue to see me, but it is obvious that she does not care for me as I do for her. What should I do?

We have never quarreled, get along splendidly and have the same interests and ideals.—MAC.

A. You might ask her frankly if she would prefer that you make your requests for dates less frequent and thus give her an opportunity to go out with others. Tell her that you prefer her only (if you are sure you do) but want her to have whatever freedom she desires.

This advice is given on the assumption that you are old enough to show a serious interest in a girl and are ready to follow it up. If not, then I think you should automatically refrain from trying to monopolize her and follow the policy of dating other girls now and then. Don't simulate seriousness unless you mean it and are prepared to mean it. Understand?

Answered Briefly.

Daphne: I'd say that you are better off right where you are. Use your energy to develop your own immediate field more intensely and I believe you will be happier than to make a break and seek new and uncertain fields. Direct your energy and imagination upon the job at hand instead of going roving and probably wasting time, money and effort.

Nan: It's a compliment to be called "peppy." I cannot see why you should object to the description. The "peppy" person is one imbued with vitality and dash, who directs her energy into activities that bring life and interest to other people. I think it's simply great to be "peppy."

Edna: Your "tall, dark man" may or may not be all you imagine him to be. Since you have mutual acquaintances, why not ask for an introduction. That is surely permissible.

Stays Unkissed

Cupid has been thrown for a loss by attractive Evelyn Venable, (above), widely publicized as the screen's unkissed star, who has broken her engagement to Hal Mohr, dashing cameraman, calling off plans for their wedding at Christmas. Miss Venable, who revealed her father, a Cincinnati teacher, never permitted her to have company of boys, said Mohr was the first man who had been attentive to her.

PARENTS IDENTIFY DEAD GIRL AS THEIR DAUGHTER

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Oct. 16—(AP)—The body of a young expectant mother, slain 10 days ago, was claimed today by Mr. and Mrs. James McCrea, of Lavaca, Ark., as that of their missing 18-year-old daughter, Winnie Mae.

The positive identification spurred a search by Kansas and Arkansas authorities for a married man who was said to have been named by the slain girl as the father of her expected child.

WHEAT INCREASE EAST NEBRASKA

Condition Excellent But More Moisture Needed Before Winter.

There has been a slight increase in eastern Nebraska wheat acreage this fall over last year, N. E. Kerns, Burlington division freight agent, states in his crop report for October 1-15.

The wheat increase for the various divisions: Omaha, 12 per cent; Lincoln, 4½ per cent; and Wymore, 8 per cent.

Weather condition has been favorable except moisture received has been below normal and has been spotted. Soil is reported very dry on top and additional moisture is needed badly for best results before going into winter. For the time being, however, wheat is in excellent condition.

Corn To Be Cut.

There are yet a number of fields of corn to be cut for fodder and ensilage, and many fields are being pastured.

Pastures and meadows have made good growth since moisture has been received but due to the lateness of the season, the growth of grass is not rapid. Fourth cutting of alfalfa is considered a fairly good crop; in fact, many localities advise it was the heaviest hay crop of the season.

Lincoln Division.

Corn—Acreage cut for ensilage and fodder 83½ per cent.
Wheat—Condition as compared with normal year, 94 per cent; acreage planted as compared with normal year 90 per cent.
Pastures & Meadows Green—Fair growth since moisture received.
Soil—Wet on top needs additional moisture.

Wymore Division

Corn—Acreage cut for ensilage and fodder, 85 per cent.
Wheat—Condition as compared with normal year 85 per cent; acreage planted as compared with normal year, 93 per cent.
Pastures and meadows—Green but need moisture for best results.
Soil—Wet on top. More moisture needed.
Rainfall—1.05 inches. Humboldt 1.30 inches, Adams, 1.25 inches, Peru 2 inches, Shubert 1.50 inches.

Omaha Division

Corn—Acreage cut for ensilage and fodder, 90½ per cent.
Wheat—Condition as compared with normal year, 95 per cent; acreage planted as compared with normal year, 89 per cent.
Pastures and meadows—Fair, good growth since moisture received.
Soil—Wet on top, needs rain.
Rainfall—.60 inch average. Ashland, 1.15 inches, Louisville 2 inches, Wahoo, 2 inches.

DOWLINGS DIVORCED.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16—(AP)—The hectic romance of R. C. "Danny" Dowling, dance director, and Marjorie Crawford, flying film actress, has ended in a divorce. Miss Crawford, the former wife of William Wellman, screen director, was granted the divorce yesterday after she had testified that Dowling forced her at pistol point to write out a check for $75 shortly after their marriage six months ago.

Sixteen Biggest Corn States Vote 2 To 1 For 1935 Control Program

CHICAGO, Oct. 16 — (AP) — Farmers by their own ballot are overwhelmingly in favor of continuation of the agricultural adjustment administration's corn-hog program for another year.

Nearly complete returns from 500,000 farmers, both signers and non-signers, showed today a 2 to 1 vote of approval on the controversial production-control feature of the AAA in a poll of the big corn producing states.

Sixteen states which already have ballotted recorded a 327,797 to 166,362 vote in favor of the 1935 program. A second question on the "one-contract-per-farm" plan for 1936 received an adverse vote—232,999 against and 229,480 for.

Two states, Kansas and Nebraska, were unfavorable to the continuation of the AAA program next year. Six states, Indiana, Kansas, Michigan, Nebraska, Ohio and Wisconsin, voted against the one-contract — the adverse vote recorded being enough to overbalance the favorable margins of nine other states."

The sixteen states canvassed will produce approximately 65 per cent of the nation's 1,416,772,000 bushels of the 1934 corn crop as estimated of Oct. 1. This third of the United States received something over $52,000,000 in benefits, or about three-quarters of the money distributed. The entire crop is only 56 per cent of the average yield.

Texas 9 to 1.

Texas voted 9 to 1 in favor of continuing the reduction program. Iowa, whose $15,000,000 tops the corn-hog benefits, was nearly 3 to 1 for the plan.

Both signers and non-signers of 1934 corn-hog contracts were allowed to vote, with the latter being almost uniformly unfavorable to both questions.

The vote on the 1935 program and the one contract plan for 1936 was:

Naborhood Druggists

Know Your Naborhood Druggist!

C. M. MAYO

Over 12 years serving the people of Dal Place Located at 48th and St. Paul.

An automobile sweeps around the curb. A little girl screams. Women shriek. Passers-by gasp. A man rushes to the inert form. He carries it into the nearest drug store. Excitement...noise...hysteria. Immediately the pharmacy becomes a field hospital. The druggist phones for the ambulance, and sets about rendering skillful first aid.

Just one more of the many services the druggist renders to his community. More dramatic, but not more important than the routine service he renders day in and day out in the employment of his professional knowledge and training toward the safeguarding of the health of the community, and lives of his customers.

When you need drugs or medicines buy them from your Naborhood druggist—the only merchant licensed by law to compound or dispense them—the only one qualified by education and training to judge the genuineness, the purity and the potency of drugs and medicines.

Because of his professional service, for which he charges only a merchant's profit, your druggist is entitled to all of your drug store business. Cultivate an acquaintance with your Naborhood druggist and his store. It will pay you.

University Club Begins Its Ladies' Days For The Season

John Morris Will Be Honored At Stag Dinner At Country Club Wednesday Night; Many Parties For Mrs. L. E. Wettling.

THE Soc Ed Makes a few Memos: Tuesday—Thank goodness another news channel opens today—the University club starts its ladies' days for the season—That's a help, but after all one must have something besides bridge to talk about—Note: Must see if there are any parties this week for Mrs. L. E. Wettling of Evanston, Ill., formerly of Lincoln. She was a good Episcopalian and was very active in various social circles—hope there are some parties.

Also hope that someone is doing something for Mrs. John Morris, who probably spends most of her time basking in reflected glory simply because her husband is the golf pro, or was the golf pro, at the Lincoln Country club. Understand the men are giving "Johnny" quite a send-off Wednesday night, stag dinner and everything. Golf and bridge circles will miss the Morrises.

But must stop note-ing and gather in some news—

HEAR THAT a group of Lincoln women, about twelve of them, sauntered down to Beatrice by motor today, for luncheon and bridge with Mrs. Adam McMullen. It seems that the ladies are the members of a bridge club to which Mrs. McMullen belonged and still belongs, in Lincoln. She is also having some guests from Beatrice, making about twenty altogether.

* * *

THERE ARE PARTIES for Mrs. Wettling, quite a group of them. They began last Saturday, when Mrs. C. J. Guenzel entertained an eightsome at luncheon and bridge at the Rudge and Guenzel party room. Monday, Mrs. Guenzel was a foursome hostess at luncheon at her home as a courtesy to Mrs. Wettling.

Today, Mrs. F. B. Hollenbeck was hostess to nine guests at luncheon at the University club, honoring Mrs. Wettling, and following luncheon tables were placed for bridge at the club.

Hear that there is a very informal tea for a small group of guests Wednesday at the University club, complimenting Mrs. Wettling, and on Thursday, Mrs. C. W. Bryan will be hostess at luncheon for Mrs. Wettling and a group of her old friends.

Friday, as a courtesy to Mrs. Wettling, Mrs. W. D. FitzGerald will entertain a small group of friends at luncheon at her home, 1971 D street.

THERE'S ONLY one sure way to find out what you want to know, and that is ask—and so, via the good old grapevine and other methods, we discovered that there is to be a dinner, Wednesday evening for Mrs. John Morris. Mrs. W. L. Day and Mrs. Ed Weir will be the dinner hostesses and have invited twelve guests for the "stag widow" affair which is to be held at the home of Mrs. Weir. Autumn garden flowers will introduce a Hallowe'en motif which will be featured in the appointments.

* * *

QUITE A FEW foursomes turned out for the first ladies' day of the season at the University club today. Miss Anne Stuart was hostess. The groups were for the most part, no hostess affairs, with the exception of one arranged by Mrs. Lester J. Dunn, who had as her guests, Mrs. W. T. Coburn, Mrs. H. S. Swift and Mrs. Claude Anderson.

At another foursome table were Mrs. Bert Rodgers, Mrs. Leo Hyland, Mrs. Phil Assenmacher and Mrs. T. J. Farrell.

Mrs. J. H. Graham, Mrs. H. V. Ridnour, Mrs. A. L. Moeller and Mrs. C. W. Boyles made up a foursome for luncheon and bridge, as did Mrs. J. C. Tood, Mrs. W. L. Harlan and her guest, Mrs. Jim Peyton of Topeka, Kas., and Mrs. Paul Arthaud.

TOGETHER FOR luncheon and an afternoon of bridge were Mrs. George Salladin, jr., Mrs. Wardner Scott, Mrs. John Lawlor and Mrs. L. L. Waters, while at another table for four were Mrs. Dick Westover, Mrs. Stanley Zemer, Mrs. John Morris and Mrs. W. C. Becker.

Mrs. W. L. Day, Mrs. D. X. Bible, Mrs. Ed Weir and Mrs. E. N. Deppen had a table together.

TRAVELERS—Understand that Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Wilson left today for Wichita, Kas., where they will visit Mr. Wilson's mother, Mrs. Fred Wilson, and his sister, Mrs. Frank Letson.

AND IN TOWN for just a short while enroute from their home in Crawford, Neb., to Okmulgee, Okla., where they will visit their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. "Hoddy" (Howard) Colton, were Dr. and Mrs. O. R. Ivins. They were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Colton while here.

* * *

THE FOUR-YEAR-OLDS were up to things Monday. It was Jacqueline Becker's fourth birthday anniversary, and she was hostess to nine little girls at a party in the afternoon. The time was spent with games and late in the afternoon the guests were seated at one table for refreshments.

* * *

ON THEIR WAY home to St. Louis Monday, were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weibe, who were in Lincoln on account of the death of Mrs. Weibe's father, L. W. Garroute. While here they were the house guests of Mrs. W. D. FitzGerald. Park Garroute, who was also here from Denver, and who was the guest of Hugh Hallett, left Sunday for his home.

THERE WERE PRIZES for the Eastridge golferettes today—one for the first low gross, one for the fourth low gross, and one for the low putt—all donated by Miss Gertrude Krausnick. Playing on the Eastridge course this morning were Mrs. G. J. Schuell, Mrs. Grace Darby, Mrs. Don Elliott, Mrs. W. A. Mechling, Mrs. Gregg McBride, Mrs. Don Berry, Mrs. Joseph Albin, Mrs. Paul DeKlotz, Mrs. T. C. Gaughan, Mrs. E. V. Millard, Mrs. H. A. Scott, Mrs. H. O. Henderson, Mrs. C. J. Botsford, Mrs. F. J. Patz, Mrs. R. R. Robinson, Mrs. M. H. Allen, Mrs. H. J. Requartte, Mrs. Paul Ohlheiser and Mrs. F. C. Dice.

ON HER WAY east Sunday will be Mrs. F. B. Hollenbeck, who has many things on her mind to do while there. First she plans to stop for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Harry Mealey of Cleveland, and then will go on to New York where she will attend the annual meeting of the Board of Assistants of the General Society of Mayflower Descendants which meets November 10, at the Hotel Roosevelt in New York City.

After that time she will spend sometime with her son, Alexander Hollenbeck and Mrs. Hollenbeck, at their home in Jenkintown, Pa., a suburb of Philadelphia.

BECAUSE MR. AND MRS. E. R. Heiny are celebrating their twenty-second wedding anniversary today R. O. Hodgman will entertain at dinner in their honor this evening at the University club. Besides Mr. and Mrs. Heiny the guest list will include Mr. and Mrs. John Aldrich Mr. and Mrs. Evold Forsyth and Mrs. Bernie Cheney. The after dinner hours will be devoted to bridge.

* * *

AND SPEAKING of dinners—understand that Mr. and Mrs. Hume Clark of New Haven, Conn., and Lincoln, (quite a stretch, but nevertheless true) entertained at dinner Saturday evening at Hotel Cornhusker, where they make their home. Dinner places were arranged for ten.

* * *

ANOTHER GUEST — Someone tells us that Mrs. F. W. Harris of Alliance is the house guest of Mrs. H. H. McVicker. Mrs. Harris came Friday and will spend a week in Lincoln. Her daughter, Fritzie, is attending the University of Nebraska and is at the Kappa Alpha Theta house.

MISS ROWENE COLES, JOHN DEINES MARRIED.

The marriage of Miss Rowene Coles and John Deines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Deines of Lincoln, was solemnized at high noon Tuesday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Morrissey, 925 C street, in the presence of seventy guests. The Rev. Dr. Walter Aitken of St. Paul M. E. church read the lines before an altar improvised of palms and ferns, inset with candelabra of ivory tapers.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Hazel Smith, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. F. J. Brakel of Callaway, sang "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly." Mrs. Harry Stephens played the Lohengrin bridal music.

Miss Clara Lutzi was the maid of honor, and wore a princess frock of rose crepe. It was floor length with long sleeves, slashed above the elbow, and had a boat neckline. Miss Lutzi carried Killarney roses.

Henry Debus served as the best man.

The bride's gown was of white satin on the form fitting lines and of floor length. The bodice was designed with the cowled neckline and the puffed sleeves were caught into a long cuff. With her gown, she wore a tulle veil with a fish trail train and a bonnet style with a bandeau of orange blossoms. Her flowers were pink roses.

A wedding luncheon followed, with Misses Edith Cunningham, Hazel Coles, and Elizabeth Erlick serving. Miss Anna Murphy had the guest book and the gift room, and Mrs. Lorraine Brown received the guests at the door.

Mr. and Mrs. Deines have gone on a short wedding trip, after which they will reside in Lincoln.

The out of town guests were Mrs. Elizabeth Kifer and Mrs. Lorraine Brown, Schuyler; Mr. and Mrs. Kasson Dolph and daughters, Amelia and Cevigean, Silver Creek.

Sattler-Wilson Wedding Is Event Of This Evening

With the father of the bride officiating at the service and on the thirty-second wedding anniversary of her parents, Miss Esther Sattler, daughter of the Rev. Ferdinand Sattler, and Mrs. Sattler, will become the bride of Norman Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Ray Wilson, at Ebenezer Congregational church at 8 o'clock this evening. The background for the ceremony will be a drape of royal purple, against which will be massed the greenery of ferns and palms. Draped white satin will extend the length of the altar rail and at either side will be a floor basket of chrysanthemums in shades of orchid and violet. Before the altar, with its throw of purple velvet, will be the white satin kneeling cushions, and the bridal party will be grouped before the altar in a semi-circle marked by seven seven-branched candelabra. Miss Lucille Uhrich and Miss Eleanor Pabst will light the tapers.

As the guests are assembling, a string trio, Mrs. David Jacobs, violin, Mrs. Vernon Forbes, cello, and Miss Hazel O'Connor, piano, will give a prelude of nuptial numbers and will play the bridal chorus from Lohengrin for the processional. Mrs. H. E. Harvey is to sing, "Still as the Night," preceding the marriage and Miss Helen Stowell will offer "Because." As the vows are being taken, Miss Ruth Hill, harpist, will play "Song Without Words" as a soft accompaniment. At the close of the service, a quartet, composed of Mrs. Harvey, Miss Stowell, George Baker, and John Weber, will sing "The Sevenfold Amen."

Miss Huldah Marie Sattler, serving her sister as bridesmaid, is wearing a dress of pink silk batiste, which her mother wore shortly before her marriage. The fichu is of cream lace, which ties in a soft bow, and the same lace is used for the high collar, and the sleeves of three-quarter length are finished with a three inch edging of accordion pleating. A tucked front panel marks the fitted skirt, which falls into a long train, and which is trimmed the full width with two narrow ruffles. Miss Sattler is completing her costume with pink satin slippers, and she is carrying a handkerchief made in Honolulu and given Mrs. Sattler at the time of her marriage and a bouquet of pink rose buds and valley lilies.

The bride's cousin, Miss Charlotte Gies of Albion, is the junior bridesmaid, and is to be frocked in lavender net, over lavender satin, floor length, with two small ruffles outlining the skirt and the brief train. The loose forearm sleeves are puffed at the shoulder and a ruching of the net completes the high collar. Her flowers of white African daisies and lavender asters will be made into a Colonial nosegay.

John Thomas Kipling of McCook, the train bearer, is to wear a page suit of royal purple satin with a blouse in egg shell, with the knee breeches and cape.

Mr. Wilson's best man is Dr. Wallace W. Lamphere. John Hilder, Gilbert Golding, Woerner Luedtke, and Dr. Wilford Gartner will seat the guests.

Carrying out the sentiment of the day, Miss Sattler has chosen her mother's wedding gown of ivory crepe for her marriage, and with it she will have the gloves, handkerchief, made by Mrs. Sattler's sister, Miss Nelda Grove, slippers, and lace hose worn by her mother. The bodice is fashioned with a yoke and high collar of handmade spider web lace and the same lace is used for the moulded yoke of the skirt, which sweeps into a court train, designed with the narrow ruffles. The sleeves of the gown are shirred puffs at the shoulder, but are caught into a long fitted cuff below the elbow. With the gown, Miss Sattler is wearing a trained veil of illusion, the ruffling harmonizing with the design of the trimming on the train of the gown. The simple hat crown cap is finished with a bandeau of orange blossoms. Her flowers will be an arm bouquet of calla lilies.

One hundred invitations have been issued for the reception at the home, 2035 South Eighteenth street, where the bridal couple, Miss Sattler, Rev. and Mrs. Sattler and Mr. and Mrs. L. Ray Wilson will receive the guests. Mrs. G. B. Golding will greet the guests at the door. Mrs. George Geis of Albion is inviting them into the dining room, where Mrs. E. C. Boehmer is in charge. Mrs. R. M. Anderson and Mrs. H. W. Meginnis are presiding at the table, which is to have a lace cloth over pink and to be centered with the three-tier wedding cake. They are being assisted in serving by Misses Mary Bauer, Thelma Sexton, Evelyn Heston, and Genevieve Wilson, and Mrs. Vernon Hageman and Mrs. Herschel Eckhard. A candelabrum will be at either end of the buffet and baskets of chrysanthemums will be used in the receiving and dining rooms.

Mrs. L. A. Kiplinger of McCook is asking the guests into the gift room, where Mrs. A. A. Van Landingham and Mrs. Emmett Schwenke will be in charge. Miss Dorothea Gies of Albion, the bride's cousin will have the guest book.

Mr. Wilson is taking his bride to Chicago on their wedding trip, after which they will reside in Lincoln. She is traveling in a mode suit, with which she will have a gold satin blouse and brown accessories.

Guests from out of the city are Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers and Mrs. Miller Dahlberg, Osceola; Mrs. Gies and her daughters, Albion; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Peterson, Omaha.

Miss Sattler attended the University of Nebraska school of music, and is a member of Sigma Alpha Iota.

Hunt entertained sixteen guests at a miscellaneous shower Monday evening at her home, 2600 Washington street. The evening was devoted to hemming glass towels for the bride-to-be, and to dressing dolls as brides. Favors for the guests were their own silhouettes cut by Mrs. Robert Ross. Late in the evening a buffet supper was served from a table appointed in a green and white motif. Autumn garden flowers were used throughout the rooms for decoration.

Metelski On Trial Charge Of Murder

Alleged To Have Shot Omaha Woman To Death As Result Of Quarrel Over Money.

OMAHA, Oct. 16—(AP)—Trial of Paul Metelski on a first degree murder charge began before Judge Yeager in District court Tuesday. Mary Glochowsky, daughter of the woman Metelski is accused of slaying, testified that last July 4 she heard her mother scream, and ran into the store operated by her mother from their living quarters.

She saw Metelski outside, she said, then found her mother lying behind the counter.

"Pick me up, Paul shot me," the mother said, Mary testified. Later, Mrs. Glochowsky told her husband the same thing and urged him to go after Metelski, the daughter continued.

Metelski had worked in the store and is said to have quarreled with Mrs. Glochowsky over money.

UNABLE AID WAY, SCHAFER PUPILS

Law Requires They Pay In Lincoln Or Go To Own District.

The knotty problem involving pupils of school district 113 and schools of the Lincoln district was again before the board of education Tuesday in the form of a long legal opinion from the board's attorney, R. O. Williams. The board decided to settle the matter according to the dictates of the law, despite the incongruity of a situation which compels students living across the street from a school to attend another a mile and a half distant.

As a result, Darlene and Elaine Schafer and Alfred, Melvin and Henry Way, who live in district 113 and attend Lake View school, were classed as tuition pupils and will be forced to pay the regular tuition rate. In his opinion Mr. Williams said he recognized the peculiarities of the situation but could not find a legal remedy.

Open Study Center.

Supt. M. C. Lefler informed the board that a relief study center for adults, operated by FERA funds, was opened Monday in the administration building library. The board approved the plan. Mr. Lefler also received approval for opening a branch library in a vacant room of the Belmont school. The plan calls for no expense to the district.

The board voted to request the city council to install an automatic stop signal at Fairfax street and Cotner boulevard, where the major portion of the Bethany school children cross the street.

The board received bids for employe's auto indemnity insurance. The Allen-Bushee bid of $404.12 for the Central Surety & Insurance Corp., was low. The bids were referred to the secretary, Mr. Arthur Dobson, and the board's attorney and the award will be made October 23. Other bids:

Williams - Robertson Co., Commercial Standard of Dallas, $592.47.

Gordon A. Lukart agency, General Casualty of America, Seattle, $578.50.

Gordon A. Lukart agency, Western Casualty & Surety company of Fort Scott, $437.50.

V. G. Hill, Utilities Insurance company, $440.

Hatten Insurance agency, Inland Casualty of Hamilton, O., $590.62.

Oswald Insurance agency, Northwestern National Casualty of Milwaukee, $513.78.

Andrews Insurance agency, American Motorists' Insurance company of Chicago, $644.40.

The election of C. O. Morrison at $1.50 an hour as a Smith-Hughes instructor was approved. The following report on the FERA nursing schools personnel was also approved:

Clinton Mabel Jackson, principal; Florence Downs, head teacher; Mrs. A. E. Carr, assistant; Lillian Smith, assistant; Cleetis Kerr, nurse, Mrs. Cora Caywood, cook; Dora Penilco housekeeper.

Saratoga, Annette Abbott, principal, Fay Bonnell head teacher; Eunice Mauer, assistant, Rowena Seeley nurse, Mrs. Lulu James, cook; Gussie V. Peterson, housekeeper.

Havelock: Marlen Watkins, principal Teresa Libershal, head teacher, Mrs. Margaret Smith, assistant, Mrs. Lemora Lutz, nurse, Gertrude Knepper, cook; Mrs. Margaret Lindquist, housekeeper.

A Clear Complexion

Ruddy cheeks — sparkling eyes — most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women who suffered from constipation. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the bowels, causing a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, take one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets at night for a week and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—now and then—to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.—Advertisement.

HOLEMAN'S NAME OFF OF BALLOT

he files an application for a writ of mandamus to compel me to place it on the ballot and the application is sustained, then I will place his name on."

Good, who stated that he had "been unable to find any Nebraska cases precisely in point, ...General elections in Nebraska are always held on Tuesdays; which means that a day thirty days prior to the election would always fall on a Sunday."

"The legislature," he added, "must be presumed to have known this, and to have intended what they said. If they had intended that a filing could be made 29 days prior to the election they would have said so, and would not have said that it must be made at least thirty days prior to the election."

Notwithstanding the attorney general's ruling in the Lancaster county case, Secretary of State Swanson is certifying out to county clerks the names of five no-party candidates for state and legislative offices whose petitions were received and filings made on October 8. One of these is Floyd Booth, Grand Island, running against Swanson himself.

Deputy Secretary Irl D. Tolen said that when these filings came in the attorney general's office was consulted and offhand verbal advice obtained from it to allow the names to go upon the ballot. Acting in accordance therewith, the certificates containing lists of candidates were printed with the names of these late comers included.

"I suppose the legal department changed its mind on the question after checking up more closely on the statutes and court decisions," said Mr. Tolen. "We are not quarreling with the present view taken by Attorney General Good, but it is too late for us to change our certificate, which has already been mailed out to county clerks so that they can take steps to get ballots printed for the election."

The petition candidates so certified, whose filings may be invalid under the ruling made in the Lancaster situation, are:

D. Robert Burleigh, for governor; Floyd Booth, for secretary of state; Ellen Allen, for state treasurer; Burt Sell, for congress in the fifth district; and Harold M. Hester, for state senator in the 27th district.

NRA Will Continue, Says Berge; Asks Election of Burke

eral philosophy and purposes of the NRA, the AAA and the other groups.

Overlook Faults.

"People criticize the NRA, the AAA, the CCC, and all the other alphabetical organizations. There is without doubt grounds fro criticism in each of them. But I firmly believe that when the people go to the polls in November they will have realized that these attempts are made whole heartedly and that a program with a few minor faults is a great deal better than no program of all.

"The AAA is of course the butt of most of the criticism. I can only answer that by saying the problem of the farmer cannot and will not be solved by destructive criticism of th. only plan that has ever been devised to try to solve it. It is an age-old problem and it must be solved, it cannot be criticised away.

"The NRA is, of course, in a state of change. But it will go on. It will have to. I wish people could know the type of men we have in Washington. They are not dogmatic know-it-alls. They are sincere, earnest, and intelligent men who are trying their best to find out how to solve the problems of America.

"The election of a man like Ed Burke will do a great deal to help in solving the problems. He is sympathetic to the program and therefore will have the ear of the president. Simmons is definitely antagonistic and therefore will not be close to Mr. Roosevelt."

struggled for five hours to keep roofs over their heads.

Thousands Homeless.

While the heaviest property damage probably was in Manila, weather bureau officials said loss of life was most likely in nearby provinces. The center of the typhoon's northwestward path was only 50 miles from this Philippine metropolis.

A correspondent of the Manila Tribune estimated 10,000 natives were left homeless in Bulucan province, north of Manila. He reported 2,000 small, thatched houses were blown down and many persons were injured. He had no reports of fatalities.

The storm today was one of a series of seasonal typhoons which have swept Luzon in recent weeks. Thirty-nine natives were killed in a tropical hurricane ten days ago.

ANNOUNCES AIMS OF SHELTERBELT

work. One of the best things is that we have so much historical eperimentation behind us to back us up.

Cites Timber Claims.

"The old timer claim idea was very successful as Mr. Watkins will testify. Those plantings were made without the scientific knowledge of soil conditions, planting, etc., that we now have. Now in this project we expect to apply every bit of the new knowledge we have.

"But don't get the idea that this is an altogether new thing—a hare-brained idea. There is ample evidence that it will work, that similar projects on a small scale have worked. We are not trying to put Nebraska into the lumber business, this is purely an agricultural project."

Mr. Roberts named numerous bureaus of the national government which will assist in the work, among them the bureau of plant industry, biological survey, entomology, chemistry and soils. The agricultural schools and colleges are also expected to lend their aid. Local scientists will be called upon also.

Adapted Trees.

"In the actual planting work we plan to utilize a species of tree adapted to a region, and take seedlings from trees that actually are growing in the region. We intend to plant trees that we know will grow.

"And right here I want to correct and erroneous impression. The word belt is unfortunate. The trees will not run in straight lines from Canada to Mexico. We will vary the various lines of trees according to the prevailing winds, topography, soils and will seek to get every favorable condition we can find. The whole program is flexible and these belts, especially so.

"No one can predict what effect the belt will have on climate, if it will have any. We don't say it will. It is not a rainmaking idea. It is simply an effort to use trees for the purpose of lessening the force of wind and modifying the effect of winds on soil and the evaporation of moisture."

Mr Cochran laughed. "And if you don't think we have wind in Nebraska, it cost me $5 for a new hat yesterday morning."

"From a social standpoint," Mr. Roberts continued, "the trees will make the region a better place in which to live. Even in my memory the planting of trees was a great problem in the western part of the state."

Location Indefinite.

In answer to a question as to where the belt would run in Nebraska, he replied, "Not sure, but probably just east of the sandhills, turning west after we get north and south of them.

"The whole program is to protect agricultural land by soil and water conservation. It follows in quite naturally with the other soil and water conservation projects." At which Mr. Watkins nodded vigorously.

"It is a continued scientific research and the application of the scientific knowledge we now have Roberts went on. "And finally don't let us give the impression that we are foreigners. All of us are midwesterners and know the plains country. We are here to do a big job the best we know how."

Watkins characterized the project as "a planned extension of what has been going on in this state since the beginning of its development."

"Trees have played an important part in this development," Watkins said. "in furnishing shade, shelter and fuel." Although the shelterbelt project is larger than any and previous undertaking, Watkins said it is not a "fantastic dream but a sound practical program."

Every known method of moisture conservation will be employed, the forester explained, to prepare the soil for the trees with land fallowed, slopes, and snowfences set up on difficult sites.

Railroads Apply For Store Door Deliveries

An application to the state railway commission to authorize store door deliveries of freight by the Burlington, Union Pacific and the Northwestern railroads, in all sections of the state, except at a few places northwest of Crawford and west of Julesburg, Colo., on the Union Pacific, has been made according to W. S. Whitten, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

Where the shipper handles the consignment at the point of origin and on delivery, a deduction of 5 cents per 100 pounds is allowed. Commissioner Hugh Drake said unless objections are filed, the authorization would be given.

TWO GIVE BOND.

Emil Slapeka and his son, Richard Slapeka, Milligan farmers, were released under $1,500 bond Tuesday afternoon on a charge of conspiracy to evade the internal revenue laws. They were arraigned before Commissioner H. J. Whitmore and preliminary hearing was set for October 30.

REGISTRATION REQUEST MADE

Havelock Asking Branch Office; Action By Council Deferred.

Whether City Clerk Berg will set up branch offices in the suburbs for registration of voters during the last week before the registration books close on October 27, until after election, is problematical, the city council Monday having failed to lay down a definite policy, following a request by Dan Campbell, that a separate registration be provided for Havelock.

The only point upon which the council agreed was that if Havelock is provided a separate registration, the same privilege must be extended to the others. If this is done, the clerk probably will send employes of his office to Havelock and University Place, for two days each, and to College View and Bethany for a day each.

Mayor Fenton B. Fleming and members of the council seemed to be interested mostly in the cost of operating the branch offices. Clerk Berg, however, was more concerned about the "duplication and inaccuracy of the records that would result!" He also fears that if the branch offices are established he may have difficulty in completing the files in time for the election.

ACCORD REACHED ON WATER MAIN

also install a meter at the point of contact of the state main with the city main and pay its water bill each month.

The city's part of the project will cost approximately $25,000, Commissioner Doerr said. The main will cost $15,000, 30 per cent covered by a PWA grant and the booster station $10,000, making the net cost to the city about $20,000.

The board of control was granted $60,000 by the last legislature to pay for its part of the project, but it is not known definitely, how much the construction cost will be. "As far as we know now the project will go forward," Mrs. Nellie G. Benson, control board chairman said following the meeting. "City Attorney Max Kier is to incorporate one or two changes in the contract now acceptable and we will probably sign it later in the day."

Commissioner Doerr stated the city could complete its part of the work in two or three weeks.

A provision that is to be included in the agreement at the suggestion of City Attorney Kier, prohibits the state from running water from any source than the city supply, into the main. In the event that is done, the main is to be disconnected from the city.

Mrs. Benson stated that "the contract as agreed to Tuesday morning is practically the same as the proposal submitted to the city council by tse board of control last February and which the council turned down."

STOLL HOPEFUL HIS WIFE SAFE

men—one the short and muscular man who executed the actual abduction—and the other a strapping six-footer.

As nerve worn peace officers—federal and municipal—groped through the maze of clues that have arisen since the disappearance of Alice Speed Stoll, it became known that the second man sought for questioning in the case is of blonde coloring and about forty years old.

His features are described as thin—long pointed nose, narrow lips and close set eyes.

Maid Gives Description.

The description of the kidnaper given authorities by Anne Woolet, the Stoll maid, outlined him as having an extremely pale face that was twisted into a "fiendish" grimace all during the time he was in sight.

He is thought to be about 5 feet, 8 inches in height and 150 pounds in weight. His black hair was parted in the center.

Tenseness characterized the family's attitude for a time last night giving rise to the belief that an important development was near. But soon the feeling ebbed away.

Brother-in-Law Speaks.

George Stoll, a brother-in-law, spoke the thoughts of the clan. "If we could just get some word it wouldn't be such a terrific strain. If there were only some way of knowing how she is . . ."

There are those who believe Mrs. Stoll is dead. The $50,000 ransom note is reported to have set yesterday as the time either for the murder of the woman or for a second communication.

Police today expressed the theory that the actual abductor was dominated by another individual either the tall blonde or a third person.

LINDBERGH GIVES AVIATION VIEWS

doubtful to my mind that that is not a temporary development."

Lindbergh said present planes had a cruising range of 3,000 miles, and predicted planes with a range of 4,000 miles "in a few months."

Long Distance Flying.

"The future of long distance flying," he said, "is going to be at fairly high altitudes, with supercharged cabins or supercharged cockpits or both."

He said transoceanic planes should be able to fly over storm areas.

Asked about dirigible transoceanic flights, Lindbergh said airplanes were better suited to high altitudes but cautioned that "we should carry on with both until we are definitely convinced that one will supersede the other or that there is a place for both." He stated that the "blacklist" of former air line executive officers constituted one of the "most discouraging factors" in aviation.

He was referring to the postoffice department ruling that no officers of the old air mail carriers might retain office under the reorganization which accompanied the contract letting after the first contracts were cancelled.

Migratory Fowl Abundant Along Streams As Duck Season Begins

An abundance of birds along Nebraska's watercourses and in the sandhill lake districts with moderately favorable hunting conditions were reported as the state's annual migratory water fowl open season commenced Tuesday morning.

W. H. Lytle, deputy state game warden, said ducks and geese already had begun their flight across the state in large numbers. The birds were especially plentiful, he said, in the sandhills and on the North Platte river, extending down the Platte as far as Cozad, where the river becomes dry. He said ducks and geese also can be found along the Loup rivers and in the lower Platte below where the Loup enters the big stream.

No accurate estimates could be made as to the number of hunters out but Lytle said presumably the joint attraction of pheasants and the migratory fowl would draw throngs approaching last year's hunting crowds. The pheasant season winds up Thursday but the duck season lasts until November 14.

Governor Bryan took Tuesday off from official duties and went duck hunting on the first day of the open season. In order to do so he had to send his regrets to a social dance club which had expected the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan at its meeting set for Tuesday evening. The governor was out after pheasants last week. He will wind up the shooting season by taking part in the annual hunt of the Tecumseh squirrel club during the second week of November.

Block Given 30 Days Drunken Driving Charge

Pleading guilty to driving while intoxicated, William Block, 29, Lincoln rural route No. 3, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail and his driver's license revoked for a year by Acting Municipal Judge John Jacobson. Block was arrested early Sunday morning after his car ran into the rear of a machine driven by F. C. Miller, 806 South Eighth street, on highway No. 77 near the penitentiary. After colliding with the Miller car, Block's car skidded into the path of south-bound machine driven by Elmer Rudder, 36, of Cortland. No one was injured in the accident.

THEY ALL NEED ENERGY . . . SO THEY

"GET A LIFT WITH A CAMEL!"

PHARMACIST. W. A. Seaman says: "Nerves don't trouble me—and I don't ever want them to, either. I smoke a great deal in my line of work, and I stick to Camels. They never interfere with healthy nerves and just suit my taste."

BUSINESS WOMAN. Miss Eve Millet says: "Camels give me a 'lift' when my energy is low."

SCIENTIST. Russell F. Mann says: "I like the mild flavor of Camels better and better!"

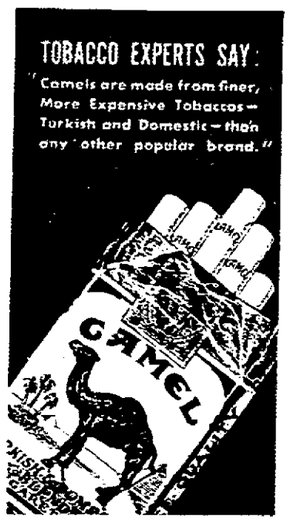
FARMER. I. A. Bailey says: "I smoke a Camel, and my energy is quickly renewed."

CIRCUS AERIALIST. Antoinette Concello: "I smoke Camels. They never upset my nerves."

THE fact that smoking a Camel does produce an increase in energy has drawn people in every walk of life to Camels.

On this page you will find Camel's "energizing effect" discussed by many smokers. They emphasize the fact that Camels do give them a healthful, enjoyable lift in energy when they are tired. They speak of the pleasure they get from Camel's mild, rich taste. And over and over comes word from steady smokers that Camels never interfere with healthy nerves.

And so—in light of the experiences of other smokers, and of the scientific evidence confirming Camel's "energizing effect"—turn to Camels yourself!



SPORTSWOMAN PILOT. Mrs. Cecil Kenyon says: "I make it a rule to smoke Camels. They are the mildest cigarette I know. After a strenuous, tiring flight, when I feel worn out, a Camel quickly restores my energy."

CARTOONIST. Chon Day, well-known cartoonist, says: "I often work 10-11-12 hours at a stretch and am smoking Camels all the time. They help to increase my 'pep' when I feel tired or glum, and I also find that Camels never upset my nerves."

PRO FOOTBALL ACE. "Cliff" Montgomery says: "After a tiring game, or any time when I feel like it, I light up a Camel and get a swell 'lift'—soon feel 100% again. I am seldom without a Camel—they don't interfere with healthy nerves."

STEEPLECHASE RIDER. Crawford Burton says: "I'm a pretty incessant Camel smoker. Camels give me a 'lift' in energy and always taste so good! Camels never upset my nerves."

AIR HOSTESS. Says Miss Marian McMichael, R.N., who travels with the American Airlines: "A Camel quickly relieves any feeling of tiredness—and how good it tastes!"

EXPLORER. Capt. R. Stuart Murray, F.R.G.S., just back from Honduras: "Camels always give me a 'pick-up' in energy when I need it. And I prefer Camel's mild flavor above all others."

CHAMPION GOLFER. Tommy Armour, "Wizard of the Irons," says: "What do I think of Camels? They are my brand and have been for years. I must be sure that my nerves are healthy—that's why I prefer Camels."

Tour of Dean Brothers Punctuated by Riot

Cash Patrons Storm Box Office to Demand Repayment of Money

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 16—(INS)—The Dean boys, Dizzy and Daffy, came near causing a riot here. Spectators, maddened because the world series heroes did not do much pitching here last night in an exhibition game against the Kansas City Monarchs, went on the war path.

Crowd Demands Money Back.

Dizzy pitched only two innings and then went to left field after allowing a run on a single and two walks. Paul had a sore arm and did not pitch at all. The brothers were in the game five innings.

Jeering greeted their withdrawal at the beginning of the sixth and then the crowd went to the box office, demanding their money back. Rioting threatened until two police squad cars arrived.

Even Dizzy's home run over the left field wall in the third failed to get much of a rise out of the crowd. Paul failed to get a hit.

PERRY SPURNS BID BY TILDEN

King of Amateur Tennis Players Declines To Turn Pro.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 16—(INS)—Fred Perry of England, champion of the amateur tennis world, has no intention of turning professional—at least not at this time.

This was the substance of a statement today by Perry as he packed his trunks preparatory to leaving the United States for an exhibition tour of Australia.

"I am absolutely not turning professional at this time," Perry declared emphatically. "I'm sailing Wednesday night with the British tennis team for Australia to defend my Australian title.

"In February, I am returning to Los Angeles, while other members of the team continue from Australia to England."

Offered Movie Contract.

Although the man who has succeeded in climbing atop the tennis heap of the amateur world once said he aspired to a motion picture career, he merely smiled and refused to comment when asked if his return to Hollywood in February meant he would sign a motion picture contract.

Perry, it has been rumored, has been offered a lucrative motion picture contract, in addition to an offer from William T. Tilden to turn "pro."

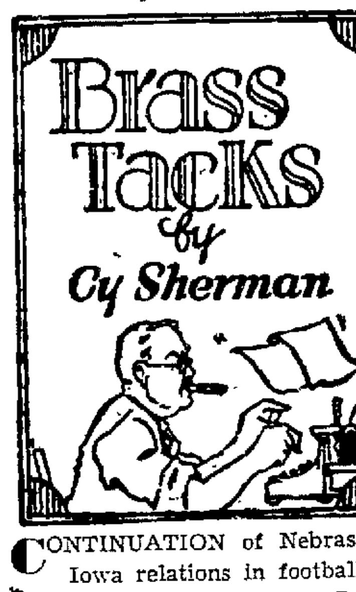
In a two-set exhibition match here yesterday, Perry went down in defeat before Gene Mako of the University of Southern California by scores of 6-0, 6-2.

LANDS LOW BLOW; LOSES DECISION

MANCHESTER, Eng., Oct. 16—(AP)—Freddie Miller, of Cincinnati, recognized by the National Boxing Association of the United States as featherweight champion of the world, today nursed his first setback of an English tour.

The defeat was his own fault, as he was disqualified in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round bout with Billie Gannon of Liverpool for striking a low blow.

Up to that point in the proceedings, Miller was in full command of the situation and had dropped Gannon for a count of eight in the first round with a blow to the body.



CONTINUATION of Nebraska-Iowa relations in football is desired by both coaches, Dana Bible and Ossie Solem, but the final decision rests with the athletic council at the Hawkeye institution. The two mentors discussed the matter Saturday, both before and after the game, and each expressed a desire to come to an agreement on a two-year basis.

The only available date for 1935 is the last Saturday of September, which, the coaches agree, is a bit too early for a contest that is viewed by the Nebraska, also western Iowa, public as one of the season's gridiron classics.

Bible favors carrying on with Iowa for various reasons, chief of which are the desirability of maintaining relations with an adjoining state and the popular response on the part of the lovers of football in this region of the Missouri valley.

The Hawkeyes and Cornhuskers packed the Nebraska stadium last Saturday and lacked but little of pulling a capacity crowd a year ago. It is smart business to consider the financial end of the deal, inasmuch as the Iowa management has not yet entirely recovered from the slump which hit the Hawkeyes as a result of their trouble with the Big Ten a few years ago, while the Nebraska management can make use of any profit that may come its way in taking care of its coliseum bonds.

THE final word from Coach Solem, prior to his departure for home Saturday night, was to the effect that he felt it necessary to stand pat for a game in Iowa City next year. His boys, he said, are complaining about coming to Lincoln so often, as they believe they would stand a better chance to win by playing at home.

Coach Bible is agreeable to the choice of Iowa City for the proposed Sept. 28 game, provided the Hawkeyes will contract to perform in Lincoln in 1936 on the last Saturday prior to Thanksgiving day.

Played in Lincoln every year, the Iowa-Nebraska game undoubtedly would bring more substantial returns than if the arrangement is an alternating affair, but Bible appreciates the position of Solem and his boys in standing out for Iowa City, so there will be no disagreement on that score.

As the matter stands at the moment, Solem will present the proposed two-year agreement to his athletic council associates and the final decision is expected during the present week.

IN EVENT that the two institutions enter into another two-year contract, Nebraska's game schedule for 1935 and 1936 will be a closed book. Incidentally, the slate for the two years would assure Cornhusker followers an array of high-class games without equal in Nebraska's history.

For the 1935 season, the roster of games would list:

Home — Oklahoma, Kansas, Minnesota and Oregon State.

Away—Iowa, Iowa State, Kansas State, Missouri and Pittsburgh.

For 1936:

Home — Iowa State, Kansas State, Missouri, Pittsburgh and Iowa.

Away — Oklahoma, Kansas, Minnesota and Oregon State.

There may be better, meaning more attractive, schedules than the above, but I wouldn't know where to find them. The average institution of prominence finds room on its slate for a preparation game, also a breather. Not so at Nebraska. The Cornhuskers would be "shooting the works" after each and every kick-off during the two campaigns.

THAT marvelous outpouring of 35,000 football fans at Saturday's Husker-Hawkeye fray, coming, as it did, in an early October game, established Nebraska football on a high plane from the standpoint of popular interest in Cornhusker sport and in comparison with the attendance at other well known college centers.

The facts of the case are that no game in Big Ten circles Saturday was able to keep the attendance pace set by the Cornhuskers.

The Ohio State-Illinois affair at Urbana drew a crowd that was 10,000 short of equalling the Nebraska attendance. Quite a difference, considering that the winner was destined to earn recognition as one of the leaders in the Big Ten title race.

And the Chicago-Michigan game, played in the nation's second most populous city, reported only 25,000 present.

Out on the Pacific coast, the Stanford-Northwestern intersectional affair, could pull nothing more than a 25,000 crowd.

So, Cornhusker Fans, you have good reason to stick out your chests! You certainly got your money's worth from witnessing one of the most thrilling gridiron battles in Nebraska's history and you did your part toward proving that football in Cornhuskerland has a high rating in the Gridiron Blue Book.

Huskers to Norman Via Special Train

The University of Nebraska football party, including around 30 athletes, will pull away Friday afternoon for Oklahoma, where the Cornhuskers will meet the Sooners Saturday afternoon.

The Huskers will travel in a special train over the Missouri Pacific. The party will return to Lincoln Sunday afternoon.

Cornhusker Scouts On Road This Week

University of Nebraska scouts will watch Pitt and Iowa State this week-end. Bill Day, former Cornhusker captain, will scout Pitt against Minnesota at Pittsburg and Ed Weir, head freshmen coach, will chart Iowa State against the University of Iowa at Ames.

The Cornhuskers meet Iowa State, Oct. 27, and face Pitt, Nov. 10, both games being played at Memorial stadium in Lincoln.

HUSKERS TUNE UP BATTLE SOONERS

Nebraska Expects Stern Fight Saturday On Norman Field.

By GREGG McBRIDE.

Convinced that the psychological advantage will be all in favor of the University of Oklahoma, the Nebraska Cornhusker football squad was digging its cleats in Memorial stadium sod a bit harder this week. Last week the Huskers were battling on their own field to avenge a ragged showing at Minnesota. Next Saturday will find Oklahoma in the same spot—playing at home with an opportunity to erase the memories of an upset at Texas by tumbling the Big Six conference champions.

Moving pictures of the Iowa game, displayed for the entertainment and education of the Nebraska squad Monday afternoon, revealed a surprising number of errors on the part of the varsity linemen and backs. Accordingly, the first two days of the week have been given over to correcting these mistakes. Offensive drill occupied the attention of the Scarlet Monday and the defense is to be given overhauling Tuesday. The final scrimmage of the week is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon.

Starting Lineup Retained.

Barring mid-week injuries, Head Coach Dana X. Bible plans to start Saturday the same forward wall which delivered so effectively against Iowa. This will include Lester McDonald and Bernard Scherer, ends; Russell Thompson and Carroll Reese, tackles; Jim Heldt and Ladas Hubka, guards; Franklin Meier, center.

The backfield quartet will line up with "Chief" Bauer calling signals at quarter; Lloyd Cardwell and Ronald Douglas at the halfback posts and Glenn Skewes or Sam Francis at fullback. Skewes is the Saturday game-captain and Francis is nursing a leg injury received in the Iowa game.

Officials for the Nebraska-Oklahoma game at Norman Saturday have been announced as Ben Boynton, Williams, referee; James St. Clair, Baylor, umpire; Lee Anderson, linesman.

MINNESOTA.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 16—(INS)—Defense and still more defense was Coach Bernie Bierman's order today to fit the power-house Minnesota eleven for the task of halting Pittsburgh's smooth-working offensive. All that will be done to the new Minnesota offensive this week, according to Bierman, will be a bit of polishing up. A heavy workout today was to follow the chalk talk given the varsity last evening.

William Valentine Shakespeare, Notre Dame halfback, is a direct descendent of the bard of Stratford-on-Avon.

PACKED STADIUM LOOMS FOR PITT

Panthers and Huskers In Line to Pull Another Whopper Crowd.

Another jammed stadium is in prospect for the University of Nebraska Cornhuskers this season. Business Manager of Athletics John K. Selleck announced Tuesday that advance sales point to a sellout for the Nebraska-Pittsburgh game at Memorial stadium, Saturday, Nov. 10.

Selleck announces there will be no Knothole section for the game and that all general admission seats will be on the bleachers at the ends of the field.

Sale of bleacher seats has started by mail order and when the 5,000 ducats are sold, the sale will stop.

Stadium stands will be given over entirely to reserved seats.

Pair of Iowa Backs Shelved For Season

IOWA CITY, Ia., Oct. 16—(INS)— Two University of Iowa backfield stars, Captain Russ Fisher, quarterback, and Herman Schneidman, halfback, were in the hospital today with injuries resulting from the Nebraska game. Physicians said they may be lost for the remainder of the season.

Schneidman underwent an operation for a dislocated shoulder. Captain Fisher, a cartilage in his knee broken, may have to wear a cast for several weeks.

SOONERS SCHEME UPSET NEBRASKA

Oklahoma Counting On Having Advantage By Playing at Home.

By CHARLES GRUMICH.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 16—(AP)—The determined and erratic Nebraska-Oklahoma football rivalry returns to the gridiron at Norman, Okla., next Saturday in the game that may decide the 1934 Big Six championship.

The important clash, topping the program this week-end, will bring together powerful squads that rate one-two in the all-time records of the conference now in its seventh football campaign.

Viewing results of last week-end the experts figure the one-two ranking will not be upset, unless Oklahoma's latent power, which to date has produced only the one touchdown that defeated Centenary, comes to life against Nebraska and mows down all other opposition.

Oklahoma partisans are heartened by the fact that their team is playiug at home, where the Sooners have won from the Huskers twice and lost to them three times—a record considered good against Nebraska in the Big Six.

Sooner Errors Expensive.

Errors in judgment and execution have figured in the last two Husker triumphs over the Sooners. In 1932 Oklahoma gave Nebraska a safety when a passback found no Sooner back on hand to take it, and in 1933 Qaurterback Bob Dunlap let a kick-off roll into the end zone for a touchdown at the start.

Nebraska enters the game with 18 consecutive conference victories on its record. The Sooners haven't beaten the Huskers since 1930, when they did it by a 20-7 score, the largest by which any conference team beat Nebraska since Fielding Yost was coach at Kansas in 1899.

Oklahoma suffered no severe injury in losing to Texas and Nebraska fared the same in nosing out Iowa last Saturday.

Jayhawks On Pass Defense.

Taking a cue from their 0-6 loss to Kansas State a year ago, the Kansas Jayhawkers are at work on pass defense in preparation for the renewal of the intrastate feud at Manhattan next Saturday.

Kansas State was alarmed by scout reports that Kansas has a team comparable to the one Coach Ad Lindsey had at Oklahoma in 1928. Leland Shaffer, veteran back, is nursing a leg injury, but was expected to be ready for duty against the Jayhawks.

Dissatisfied with the passing and kicking in the loss to Iowa State Coach Frank Carideo turned his Missouri Tigers toward aerial work as they prepared for the tussle with St. Louis U. at Columbia.

Having escaped injury in beating Missouri, Coach George Veenker of Iowa State announced his intention to concentrate on running plays, after stressing the overhead works until now. The Cyclones meet Iowa Saturday.

GOPHERS FACING TOUGHEST TEST

Minnesota at Pitt This Week, With National Title at Stake.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16—(AP)—Before making a start toward its real goal, the Western conference football championship, Minnesota will take a crack at the national title situation Saturday in clashing with Pittsburgh.

Before the season opened, Minnesota, an almost all-veteran combination which went through the 1933 campaign without a defeat, was made the favorite in the Big Ten race. Nothing has happened since then to lower the Gophers' rating. Pittsburgh, with a soul-satisfying 20 to 6 victory over Southern California racked up, is being hailed as the best in the east.

Minnesota, by playing four ties last year, missed a chance for national recognition, but also took care of Pittsburgh's chances by handing the Panthers their only defeat, 7 to 3, at Minneapolis early in the season.

Bierman Scouted Trojans.

Coach Bernie Bierman of Minnesota saw Pitt blister the Trojans, and yesterday put his squad to work on defense measures for Panther passes and running plays. The Gopher attack has shown terrific power in two games this season, being marred only by fumbles. This fault apparently was ironed out last week, as Pug Lund, George Rennix, Stan Kostka, Sheldon Biese and the other backs handled the ball cleanly in practice.

Injuries to Captain Russ Fisher and Herman Schneidman, regular backs, in the Nebraska game, caused Coach Ossie Solem to start rebuilding the Iowa backfield. Fisher suffered a knee injury and Schneidman a dislocated shoulder which may keep him out for the remainder of the season. Purdue also had casualty troubles, with its ace back, Duane Purvis, suffering a recurrence of an ankle injury.

"Bo" Seeks Replacements.

Coach "Bo" McMillin of Indiana started a search to locate capable replacements for the Chicago game, and the Maroons, although victorious over Michigan, went back to hard work as Coach Clark Shaughnessy demanded more speed and polish on offense. Wisconsin stressed running plays in opening drills for Saturday's engagement with Purdue.

At Ohio State, Francis Schmidt drilled his men to smooth up the offense, seeking more variety for use against Colgate. The Michigan squad was given only a light workout and Coach Harry Kipke indicated there would be no special preparation for Georgia Tech.

Bob Zuppke gave the Illinois squad a holiday and Northwestern was en route home from Stanford.

ILLINOIS.

URBANA, Ill., Oct. 16—(INS)—The Illini varsity which started against Ohio State was slated for another day of rest today, but Coach Bob Zuppke was busy shifting the lineup for the Michigan game one week from Saturday. Arvo Ontilla went to tackle from end. Red Gregg, a veteran, was used at the other tackle on the reserves.

NOTRE DAME.

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Oct. 16—(INS)—The revenge motive spurred Notre Dame's work today in preparation for the Carnegie Tech invasion Saturday. Not satisfied with the showing of the Irish against Purdue, Coach Layden ordered a return to fundamentals. Tech defeated the Irish last year.

CALIFORNIA.

BARKELEY, Cal., Oct. 16—(INS)—"We're starting anew," declared Coach Bill Ingram today as he ordered a stiff workout for his University of California football team which was lucky to squeeze out a 7 to 6 victory over Coach A. A. Stagg's little College of the Pacific eleven last Saturday. The Bears play their first Pacific Coast conference game next Saturday against the U. C. L. A. Bruins at Memorial stadium here.

Princeton U. In Line Receive Invitation Perform at Rose Bowl

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—(INS)—It might be said that a little bird told me this, only the statement wouldn't be strictly true. In the first place, there were two of them and, in the second, if they were little birds, then hog-callers are little choir boys. They were, to be exact, making the night hideous with their announcement which was to the effect that Princeton already has been selected, sight unseen and schedule unfinished, to play the Rose Bowl game against the best in the far west.

That Crest Of Arms.

In other words, they're weary of the hair-on-the-chest colleges out that way. They now want something refined and traditional, with an ivy-clad wall in the background and a crest of arms over the chapel steps, showing a ginger ale highball rampant on a field of hops.

Princeton, they say, has even lent itself to the idea by scheduling the most reasonable and reliable list of opponents any Princeton team has confronted in years. It has started off with Amherst and Williams. The next step ought to be the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, but they made it Washington and Lee, thereby indicating that the best laid plans of mice and men often wind up behind the 16-ball. I know there's no 16-ball. That's why they call it the 16-ball. It's too dark to see.

Better Than Intended.

Washington and Lee, on its records, is better than Princeton intended it to be; so it is now up to Princeton to forget sorority football and play regular, masculine, cleats-on-the-cheek football or it will blow its chance before the season is fairly under way.

In case I forgot to mention it, my vociferous witnesses already have Princeton accepting the Rose Bowl bid, contingent upon an unbeaten season.

This, I know, will come as a blow to Alabama and Tennessee, which are playing each other on Saturday, probably with the Rose Bowl event not too far in the background; to Duke, probably headed for an unbeaten season, and to Colgate and Columbia, ditto. Louisiana State als o has a few designs, but has already played ties with Rice and Southern Methodist and, if it wants to do anything further about it, probably will have to take the matter up with Huey Long.

Panthers Can't Forget.

As for Pittsburgh, it already has finished fourth in a field of two out of three at the Rose Bowl in 1931 and 1933 and probably would not be particularly attractive on that account, even if it finished a tremendous season undefeated, which doubtless it won't.

Princeton, on the other hand, is perfect. All it has to do is finish a hand-picked schedule undefeated—and the funny thing about that is that while Cornell is terrible, Harvard, Yale and Dartmouth are pretty good. In other words, I don't know what was originally intended, but that winds up as no sucker list.

Karl Mortensen, 185-pound back, was shifted into the quarterback post in place of Al Zeff and two changes wereo rdered in the line.

Norm Franklin, Orange star left halfback, will not accompany the team south. He is out for at least three weeks with an injured shoulder.

WASHINGTON.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 16—(INS)—California next. That is what's on the brain of football-mad Seattle today as a triumphant pack of Washington Huskies knuckled down for their battle with the Bears here Oct. 27. This seems to be Washington's year for getting even. And there is a little matter of the 53-0 defeat from the hands of California last year.

WHAT OF MAN?

BEFORE the Round Table Monday night in Lincoln was read a most comprehensive and stimulating paper on "North and South American Ancient Civilizations," prepared by the late W. E. Hardy in anticipating his turn as leader at the opening fall meeting.

It represented more than twenty-five years of broad study, of wide travel, and of thorough research in the libraries. And it is an engaging subject. In various sections of both continents thousands of years ago flourished races and peoples who made remarkable progress, revealed extraordinary intelligence, brought to a high state of perfection the beautiful flower of living, and then disappeared with scarcely a trace of their achievements, save for the meager record which can be unearthed from rock and dust, from jungle, swamp and lake. No less than six such civilizations existed during the race of time. It is but the natural impulse there should be regret that the notable contributions which they made to some branches of the arts should be lost. Particularly in engineering, in architecture, and in the arrangements of colors in pottery and sculpture, if it might be called by the latter name, they displayed rare genius.

There is this assurance, however. No civilization yet has died but that another better than its predecessor replaced it. If in between the extinction of the old and the birth of the new, long periods of time elapsed, in some mysterious inexplicable way always the new seemed to start just a step ahead of the old, and when it had run its course, it had reached a higher level than the preceding one. And that is a comforting reflection. It gives meaning and purpose to life.

The anthropologist never has told us why a civilization died and a new one took its place; never has told us how much time elapsed between. But thought spent upon regretting the disappearing of the old, and the advent of the new, is wasted, heartless as that may seem. Probably these earlier ancient civilizations were wiped out by natural forces—natural in the sense that they knew nothing of hygiene, nothing of sanitation, nothing of medical science as it is known at the present time, and nothing of the protection of health. What strength and vigor they possessed physically came to them solely through the rawness and the hardness of life. Whenever their fight against nature progressed sufficiently to enable them to relax in their vigilance and in their daily physical efforts, they died. What protection they had from disease and epidemic was furnished by the same forces of nature which constantly were waging warfare upon them.

Select the finest engineering achievement in this country today; pick out the most outstanding bit of architecture, from the standpoint of utility and of beauty and basic soundness, lock the doors, clear away the people within a hundred miles, and abandon them to the attack of sun, wind, dust, heat, frost, and bitter cold, and figure out what you will have at the end of a hundred years. Even with all of the skill of building today, with all the knowledge of engineering, and of architecture, in the lapse of that time, the assault of these forces of nature would reduce the best that present-day civilization has developed to a heap of ruins.

That need not necessarily depress. The civilization of the future will be the better for the civilization of today—regardless of whether or not a hundred, five hundred, or a thousand years from now there will be a trace on the North American continent of the things which people today in considering important, do.

NEBRASKA'S HIGHWAYS.

IT WAS a fine, sound, and particularly timely analysis of Nebraska's highway system which Prof. Carl M. Duff, professor of applied mechanics at the University of Nebraska, made at a meeting of Sigma Xi, honorary scientific society, Monday evening.

In the course of his review of Nebraska highways, Professor Duff said:

"Considering the amount of money spent, Nebraska has the finest system of highways of any state in the union. The state can well be proud of its highway system."

But in calling attention to Professor Duff's remarks, it is only fair to him to point out he was not campaigning for any candidate and he had no thought that a political application might be made of his analysis. He had selected his subject as a scientist. He was speaking to a group of scientists. He was presenting conclusions based upon fact, without any thought of partisan consideration. His interest rested solely in the actual conditions of one great state undertaking. His subject was chosen before political kettles had started to boil and had made highways a matter of political controversy. This newspaper does not know whether Professor Duff is a republican or a democrat, but it does know that his address was free from partisan bias.

And it is glad that through force of circumstances there should come an expression when the republican candidate for governor, a sharp and caustic critic, has rested much of his hope of winning office on the charge that his opponent has been guilty of "political road building."

If Mr. Griswold will travel sufficiently to inform himself as to what has been done, and his travel need not be beyond the boundaries of neighboring states, he will come to the conclusion Nebraska got more miles of roads and got better roads for less money than Iowa, Missouri, or Kansas. He will come to the conclusion that the cost per mile, year for year, was less in the state of Nebraska than it was in adjoining states for the same type of construction. Before the campaign is over, Mr. Griswold will be confronted with these figures on the cost of highway building for the various states in the union, and if he possesses the qualifications which he should, he will lose no time when those figures are presented to him, in retracting his charge.

It was no accident that Nebraska built roads more cheaply and built them better than neighboring states. Soil conditions vary but little. The problems of topography are not sufficiently different to make construction less expensive here. The materials were bought largely from the same manufacturers and in numerous instances, the work performed by the same contracting firms. Nebraska procured lower estimates and better bids and spent less money for the finest type of construction. It achieved these results because succeeding republican and democratic governors and Roy Cochran were on the job effectively instead of endeavoring to make a political football of highway building.

WEEKEND FATALITIES.

EVERY weekend has its list of highway tragedies, but it is not believed that ever in history has there been as great a number of motor fatalities as during the three days just passed through. These occurred in all parts of the country, but in Nebraska the toll was particularly heavy. Not only did motorists lose their lives, but a number of pedestrians were killed, and in many of the cases the accidents were clearly due to carelessness.

Notwithstanding all that has been written and said about care in driving and watchfulness upon the part of those walking or standing on the highways, accidents are becoming more frequent rather than less so, and the situation is really becoming alarming. The automobile is becoming a greater instrument of death than war has been.

The next legislature will surely be called upon to do something to make the highways safer, but just what that should be remains a puzzle. A highway patrol has been suggested, with its duty to see that the laws are complied with; but this would obviously be but a slight aid. It would take an army to patrol all of the roads of the state, and even then it would be impossible to spot all offenders. Some drivers might be more careful, however, if they stood in fear of coming in contact with an officer at any minute.

Many people still believe that there should be a compulsory insurance law, and while such a statute would not restore life when it had been sacrificed, it might keep some reckless drivers off the road, as they might be denied insurance. It will be remembered that the advocates of the drivers license law insisted that that enactment would drive reckless motorists from the highways, but everyone now knows that it has had no such effect. It is a law incapable of enforcement and even those who have had their licenses revoked have been later found driving.

But whatever legislation may be enacted, conditions could not be worse than they now are. Something must be done.

THE MODERN CONQUERORS.

THE romance and glory of the old Spanish conquerors when gold flowed down the Andes in an endless stream lives again, but in an entirely different setting.

High above the blood-splashed trail of Francisco Pizarro and his conquistadores an airplane is carrying 600 tons of gold-mining machinery over the 15,000-foot high range of the Andes in Peru which shuts off civilization from the fabulously rich gold mine of Huanacopampa. It was 400 years ago that Pizarro and his men captured the mine and worked it, making the native Indians their slaves.

The mine is almost inaccessible. It is only sixty miles southwest of Lima as the airplane flies to the railroad head. But they do not measure distances down there in miles; they measure them in days and weeks. By mule or foot, the trip to the mine requires from 10 days to three weeks, depending on how hard it rains. In the old slave days, life was cheap and time meant nothing.

When the price of gold skyrocketed the mine owners renewed activities in the ancient diggings. The company decided it could ship out its gold safely and rapidly by airplane if it could install modern machinery at the mine.

A huge tri-motored plane was rebuilt as a freighter. Indians who had never seen an airplane constructed a landing field on the slopes of the Andes, 12,500 feet up. Today the plane shuttles back and forth, carrying parts of machinery into the "back of beyond." Soon the plant will be in operation, treating 150 tons of gold ore daily.

THE SAGE OF UVALDE.

"CACTUS JACK" GARNER has gone the theory that vice presidents should be seen but not heard one better. He is neither seen nor heard.

Headlines, publicity, glory never worried Vice President Garner. He takes the last train into Washington when duty beckons and takes the first one out when his job is finished.

Down in his home town of Uvalde, Tex., he is happier than he ever could be in Washington. In Uvalde he hunts and fishes. In Washington he is hunted by jobseekers and those who fish for favors. He sleeps as long as he wishes, reads his mail, says "howdy" to his townsmen and goes into the woods, far from political problems and headaches. When he returns he takes a nap, reads the papers, answers his mail in his usual non-commital manner, and spends the evening spinning tales with his friends.

He is leading exactly the life he likes to lead. He knows what he wants and unlike many he doesn't want to change his mode of life for something else. In Uvalde he is the "big duck." Why shouldn't the "Sage of Uvalde" take the last train into Washington and the first train out?

He hopes the situation lasts another six and a half years, says a friend who visited him recently. It is the first intimation that "Cactus Jack" wants the renomination in 1936.

It's an ill wind that blows nobody any good. The Insull trial may last till Christmas, and the jurors get $3 a day. Afterward they should be able to qualify as memory experts if they are able to remember the mass of testimony.

QUESTION.
Buffalo, N. Y.

I have a friend who is always telling what a sinner he has been. He is a good man now, so why dwell on the past?

ANSWER.

The habit you criticize has advantages if not indulged to extremes. We are not to forget the pit from which we have been delivered, nor the discords that have been silenced by the peace of mind and heart we prize. St. Paul was a great saint, but he recalled with gratitude his rescue from a bigoted and persecuting career. Apostolic example bids us remember that nothing short of a miracle of Divine grace could have effected the change you observe in your friend.

Yet injury has been caused by excessive concentration upon former trangressions and failings. When a believer is obsessed with rehashing these episodes he is apt to become melancholy. As the Bible says, "their recollection is grievous." Whatever we have done against ourselves Christ has done infinitely more in our behalf. Though one were the chief of sinners, nevertheless he can become a genuine saint. Where sin abounded grace much more abounds.

Tell your friend to think far less about himself and far more about his Redeemer. He can accomplish transformations in us of which we do not dream. For there is a curious paradox in the religious life. He who disclaims perfection is on his way to it, whereas he who claims perfection has missed it. Let the guiding principle be "not as though I were already perfect."

Then we must press on to know our Lord better, to obey Him more faithfully and to serve our fellow men more sacrificially. Dogged persistence in well doing which insures our blamelessness, though faults remain in us, is the rule by which to tread the heavenward path. Free from the deadly diseases of pharisaism and spiritual pride, intent on doing God's Will more completely, absorbed in the deep, quiet joy of consistent Christian living, your friend will no longer pitch his tent looking toward the City of Destruction but toward the Father's Paradise.

QUESTION.
Bridgeport, Conn.

Why is it that with all the discussion of our social difficulties and shortcomings we make such slow progress in remedying them?

ANSWER.

The curses of civilization from war to slumdom and unemployment are not removable by discussion unless it is followed by intelligent action. The tragedy of the peace situation is that nearly everyone is content to condemn war with mere words while armament and munition manufacturers and national governments steadily prepare for it. Their lips contradict their deeds, their lives disagree with their professions. I favor bringing the maimed and pathetic objects of man's cruelty to man into the actual presence of superpatriots and greedy profiteers and making them see the results of their policies face to face.

You recall that the beggar Lazarus lay at the rich man's gate. Everytime Dives rode out in his luxurious equipage he saw before him the rags and starvation of his fellow man. For that reason his negligence had no excuse. Unless we also demonstrate war's foulest work we shall still linger in the damnation of its postponement. Not "well said" nor "well proposed" but "well seen" and "well done," are the needs of the pacifist temper. What we feel should be actually done; and also thought about with more than the brain. As a wise man once put it, we must ponder it with mind and heart, eyes and ears, with the marrow of our bones and with our entire being. When Samuel Plimsoll strode across the floor of the house of commons shouting, "I will unmask the villains," he overthrew the guilty ship owners who were sending human beings to sea in overloaded and rotten vessels.

The average citizen is entirely too meek and mild about acknowledged public iniquities. He needs wisdom, proof, evidence, but he needs passion and courage even more. I cannot find in history any man who ever advanced the interests of the race by absent treatment. Jesus didn't save the world by sitting on a throne in Heaven and directing distant movements. He identified Himself with the worst world there was and lifted it from the bottom up. In this as in all else He is our Pattern and Guide.

QUESTION.

I suppose I am rather skeptical by nature, but when I read these inspirational writers who tell me to discover and develop my "hidden abilities" I have to smile. I cannot believe I am ignorant of what I can or can not do. In short I believe I know my own limitations.

What therefore is the basis of this so-called inspirational literature?

ANSWER.

The skeptical tendency which you seem to rate rather highly may be correct. Nevertheless, neither you nor any one else can be certain about what "hidden abilities" you possess without various experiments. The well known author Samuel Butler was morbidly critical of himself, his fellow men and the general order of things. Perhaps his unbelief would be too advanced even for you. Even so, he said, "There is no one whom I have surprised more than myself, for I have lived with myself some forty-seven years without suspecting that I had it in me to compose music, and it now seems that I can compose as well as many another." Forty-seven years of ignorance about one's natural gift for an exacting art is a rather long time. Note, however, he did not claim anything more than what was apparently an average artistic quality for his musical product. Had Butler lived longer he might have made further discoveries in the depths of his personality. I think you had better believe that you have some dormant talents which energetic consecration to good objectives would uncover. One never knows what one can be or do until the pressure is applied.

Nor does age hinder these later developments nearly so much as many suppose. Consider the benefits achieved by men and women after they have passed the imaginary dead line of fifty. Had the world's best servants died before they were fifty it would be a very much poorer place for us today. Do not forget that self-villification is worse than self-praise. The conceited person who overestimates his gifts is more offensive but less injurious than the person who deliberately underestimates them. So I submit that you are wrong in thinking you have arrived: developed all your potential possibilities and have nothing left to offer. That is a discouraging attitude for the future and tends to choke off much which might be valuable to your family and society.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

WHAT METHODS OF REDUCING ARE EFFECTIVE AND SAFE

A person who is under the necessity of reducing weight, in the course of time will follow will-o'-the-wisps and false prophets. Except in a few individual cases, it is certain that there is only one way to do it, and that is unfortunately by intelligent, hard work.

Dr Clendening

Of the various drugs that have been used for the purpose, none can be recommended except under the care of a physician, and even then none are entirely without danger.

The new drug which produced such a furore last year, dinitrophenol, was found, when used on an extensive scale, to have a very definite element of danger. Under any circumstances its method of operation was not very much different from that of dieting, except that it worked at the other end of the scale. It burned the food up faster than normal. In fact, its action was exactly the same as exercise, except that it operated more rapidly.

Thyroid extract, which is the active ingredient in many reducing tablets, is certainly effective and considerably less dangerous than dinitrophenol. In certain individuals whose overweight is due to lack of thyroid secretion it, of course, operates well, but under any circumstances it is liable to cause nervousness, sleeplessness, and to have an overstimulating effect upon the heart.

Such methods of treatment as baths, massage, and the use of salts internally, are not effective except when combined with diet and exercise.

The intelligent use of diet for reducing, sometimes with and sometimes without, exercise, is a method which can be generally recommended. The latest views of those who have made a special study of the problem indicate that diet will remove excess weight, no matter what it is due to whether a hypothetical glandular insufficiency or simple overeating, and no matter where that weight is distributed.

Fortunately, also, the foods which are used in diets for reducing are advantageous in the correction of those disorders, such as diabetes, kidney disease and high blood pressure, which are so often associated with overweight.

Whether exercise should be combined with diet is a matter depending on circumstances. Overweight people are naturally hard on their feet and arches, and excessive exercise may be painful and crippling to them until their body weight is reduced to reasonable proportions.

Anybody can construct a diet for himself for reducing overweight if he will study the simple principles of food and nutrition, and while there are certain diets which I am prepared to recommend and will describe later in the week, I believe that it is desirable first to understand what these nutritional principles are. They will be described in the article tomorrow.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

I BREAK A PROMISE.

I promised when she went away,
Though very lonely I should be
To mind the house from day to day
And not let folly bother me.
I swore, when sorely tempted, I
Would be the faithfulest of men.
How fast good resolutions fly!
I've gone in debt for books again!

I really meant to keep my vow
And I was sure my will was strong.
But there are many bargains now
In volumes I have wanted long.
I chanced to see them in a store
And weakness overcame me then.
I've broken faith with her once more!
I've gone in debt for books again.

She said: "Be careful while I'm gone!"
I pledged my word she need not fear;
My strength she could depend upon
Were she to stay away a year.
But Shelley all in leather bound
At bargain prices! Tell me when
So rare a chance will next be found?
I fell and bought more books again.

I know she'll say she might have known
So frail a man as I would fall.
I never should be left alone.
I have no strength of will at all.
Now just because she went away,
This sad confession I must pen.
Tempted by Shelley yesterday
I've gone in debt for books again!

Planning for Winter

The wise are looking far ahead
While foolish people play instead.
—Paddy the Beaver.

"It is high time we were planning for winter and getting to work," said she

Mrs. Paddy had heard all about Paddy's wanderings and the new Beaver colony he had helped to get properly started. It interested her but slightly. She was more concerned with their own immediate affairs.

"It is high time we were planning for winter and getting to work," said she. "Do you think we are going to have a hard winter?"

"How should I know?" retorted Paddy.

"I have heard it said that we Beaver folk are supposed to know what kind of winter lies ahead and to prepare accordingly," replied Mrs. Paddy.

"Huh!" snorted Paddy. "If there was any way we could know it would save us a lot of work some years. I wish I did know. I don't believe any one knows, if you ask me. One guess is as good as another. I remember that once when in the fall I had an extra good coat of fur the neighbors all said that was a sign that we were going to have an extra cold winter, and that winter was one of the mildest for years. It was just that I was in fine condition and so grew a fine coat. And once in my old home we had an unusually small food-pile and had only half plastered the house when the first freeze came. The neighbors, seeing this, passed the word around that we were going to have a mild winter. It proved to be one of the worst I can remember. The reason the food-pile was small was because we had cut all the trees near the water and it was slow and dangerous work cutting trees farther back and getting them down where we could float them. And the reason the house was not fully plastered was because we were too busy getting food. So there you are.

"Which means," said Mrs. Paddy quietly, "that the wise prepare for the worst and then are ready for whatever may happen."

"Exactly," replied Paddy. "We'll just go ahead and plan to have food enough and to be comfortable no matter how hard the winter may be."

There were still some sticks and logs left in the food-pile made the fall before. They both agreed that these wouldn't do at all.

"We must start a new pile," said Paddy. "These sticks have been in the water too long. The bark on them is no longer good. We'll make a new pile and then when we have any spare time we'll use these old sticks for repairs where they may be needed."

So they first agreed where the new food-pile should be made and then they went to look over the supply of food trees. There were none left near enough to the pond where their house was to be cut and hauled in safety, for a Beaver is never safe far from water. Above this pond was a smaller pond they had made by building a small dam two years before. All the food trees along the shore of this had been cut but there were still some not too far back. They examined these and their locations carefully.

"We'll build that dam a little longer and a little higher," decided Paddy. "That will make the make the pond bigger so that will reach nearly to a lot of those farther trees and if we need them we can dig a canal from the pond to the spring. The water from that will fill the canal and then we can float our logs down to the pond that way. There is food enough in sight. It is for us to get it without running too much risk. The older twins are big enough to help a lot."

Mrs. Paddy nodded. "They are and they will," said she.

"After the food is harvested we'll plaster the outside of the house with mud, but the food comes first," said Paddy.

"Of course," agreed Mrs. Paddy. "The house is in good shape anyway. Food and plenty of it is the important thing seeing we don't know how cold or how long the winter is going to be. Let's get to work on that dam."

Sinclair's Frankness.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 12.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: An important question seems now most appropriate. What is our education doing to prepare us for our life's work? We have constantly to face from educators and higher-ups in intellects a continual propagation of fear and distrust. We no sooner have hope and confidence of relief than we are aroused by a spirit of fear from those we hold in some degree of wisdom. I have a son and a sister living in California. My wife has a married sister with six married children there. On leaving Lincoln some years since, these were all strong republican partisans. Late letters from them reveal that they and their several relatives are strong for Upton Sinclair's EPIC program. One is in business in Los Angeles, two in Fresno, one near Fresno, two in San Francisco, and one in Oakland. Not one has shown a particle of fear should Sinclair become governor. What is the motive back of all this superflous and conspicuous cry of a fear from such foreign residents as Arthur Brisbane, Dr. Bailey, and Mark Sullivan, to whom we are accustomed to look for wisdom? When James Rolph became the republican governor of California there was a treasury surplus of $24,000,000. At his death there was a deficit of some sixty million. Why be frightened over Sinclair's frankness?

WONDERNOSE.

Why Evade the Issue?

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 12.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: In the People's Forum Sept. 24, Mr. J. R. Burleigh wrote an article concerning Dwight Griswold. In this article he states Mr. Griswold is a conservative of the first degree, yet goes on to say that Mr. Griswold voted for huge appropriations. These are surely conflicting statements. The amounts voted by the legislature of which Griswold was a member were but a drop in the bucket to the huge sums sent into Nebraska by the present federal administration and which must be paid back eventually by the taxpayers of Nebraska.

Gov. Bryan appointed the persons now working for the state. If Cochran is elected Bryan will dictate the policies of the state. Surely we have had enough of that. But those in office do not think so, for they are trying in every possible way to force themselves back upon the public. They do not want to be without positions and probably cannot be blamed for that but why did they not conduct themselves in such a way that they would continue to deserve these positions of trust.

Mr. Burleigh contends that if Mr. Griswold is elected he will put in a machine but a republican one. This is untrue. Mr. Griswold would not follow a plan which would crush and jeopardize the rights of the people who elected him. He has no desire or intention of patterning after the democrats.

Being state engineer and being governor are so very different it seems superficial that Mr. Cochran should lay so much emphasis on his past record. Mr. Griswold has an equally enviable record of past accomplishments in the various offices he has held but lays the greatest emphasis on the present as conditions are always changing and it is the need of the moment that must be met.

Mr. Griswold with his keen knowledge of our present day needs and desire to help rich and poor alike answers our needs for a governor.

The democrats are evading the issue but their efforts are not fooling the public. Mr. Griswold will come out victorious. In the end, right will rule.

Piles Go Quick
Without Salves Or Cutting

Thousands of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and lasting relief can be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts lifeless. To end Piles an internal medicine should be used to stimulate the circulation, and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for hundreds of patients with a marvelous record of success and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own druggist with a rigid money back guarantee.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Hadley Drug Co. says "No matter what kind of Piles you have, one bottle of HEM-ROID tablets must show you the safe clean way to get rid of your Pile misery or money-back."—Advertisement

Haynes Orders Lists Of Persons On Relief Not Used For Politics

All county relief administrators, field workers, and other employes of the federal emergency relief administration in Nebraska have been notified by Federal Agent Rowland Haynes in a circular letter that lists of persons on relief must not be used in any way for political campaign purposes, and that such lists must not be given out nor made available for inspection where such use is intended.

The bulletin also calls attention to the rule prohibiting anyone on the administrative payroll of the state FERA to be a candidate for office or to give active support to aanyone who is running.

Failure to carry out these regulations will subject any offending employe or official to dismissal, the letter warns. The principle of "No politics in relief" must be observed, it says.

Commodity Credit Funds May Be Used To Pay Corn Loans

Further aid to Nebraska farmers applying for new corn loans was foreseen by the state railway commission in a telegram from Washington that arrangements are being made to enable producers obtaining new loans direct from the commodity credit corporation to liquidate old loans from the proceeds of new loans.

The wire, from Lynn P. Talley, president of the C. C. C. stated, "Loans under 55 cent corn loan plan will be available to producers who have old corn loans outstanding until notice received by them from the corporation to shell and deliver corn under terms of loan agreement. Contemplated producers will promptly signify intention of converting old loans by directing outstanding notes be sent approved bank for collection. Where this is done producers will have 15 days within which to complete transaction."

Schedules of John C. Albrecht, Dorchester farmer who asks relief under section 75, list liabilities of $87,376.24 and assets of $54,404.00 of which $2,100 is claimed as exempt.

Stocks Start Upward At Fast Pace But Later Settle Down To Slow And Featureless Jog

Numerous Gains In Share Prices

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—(AP)—The stock market started upward at a fast pace in the first hour of trading today, but later settled down to a slow and featureless jog. While there were numerous gains of fractions to around 2 points, scattered easy spots were in evidence. The metals led the rally. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 650,000 shares.

Although financial markets lacked any especially new stimulus today, most of them pushed cheerfully toward higher territory.

Metal stocks led an advance in the equities list which carried prices up 1 to 2 or more points. While a few groups failed to follow the forward movement, there was little pressure apparent in any department. Trading was quite active in the first hour. The activity dwindled sahrply later, but most advances were retained.

Grains were narrowly improved. Cotton was in demand. U. S. government securities were again the stellar performers in the bond market with some of the best gains in a week or so. Leading foreign exchanges were higher in terms of the dollar.

Shares of U. S. Smelting got up around 4 points, Cerro de Pasco 2, and American Smelting and Howe Sound a point or more each. Paramount certificates were the most active at a gain of half a point. Advances of 1 to 2 were registered by Santa Fe, Spiegel-May-Stern, Macy, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Delaware & Hudson, Chrysler, Loew's, Du Pont, Continental Can, Case, American Can, American Tobacco Co., Liggett & Myers B, Johns-Manville and Columbian Carbon.

The metal stocks again responded to another advance here of ⅜ of a cent an ounce to 55⅝ cents in the prices of bar silver imported for industrial use. This was a new peak for the metal since 1929.

The stepping up of earnings by some industrial companies was exemplified by the preliminary third quarter report of the Du Pont organization which showed net profits of $1.24 a common share compared with 96 cents in the preceding quarter and 95 cents in the corresponding 1933 period.

The inflation apparently out as an immediate market factor, Wall street began to think in terms of future currency stabilization and some buying of stocks was reported on the belief that the administration may be stepping cautiously toward teh "right" although, for reasons diplomatic and otherwise, occasionally facing "left."

Indications of a better degree of co-operation between the recovery forces and business leadrs wr sn in advices from Washington that the president now wants industry to police itself and control its own "chiselers."

The financial district was disposed to interpret optimistically the recent conferences of prominent industrialists and bankers with the chief executive. With George L. Harrison of the New York Federal Reserve bank, Jackson Roynelds, president of the First National bank of New York, and Eugene Black, former governor of the federal reserve board, among today's callers at thew hite house, there was a revival of hope that constructive developments were under way at the capital.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—(AP)—COTTON—Cotton was higher today on trade buying and scattering demand which appeared to be influenced by relatively steady Liverpool cables, reports of a firmer spot situation in the south and comparatively small offerings. The advance in silver and easier ruling of the dollar in terms of sterling also attracted some attention on the buler. December sold up to 12.44 with the general market showing net advances of about 14 to 15 points during the middle of the afternoon.

Chicago Produce.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 16—(AP)—Poultry was steady in the Chicago market today and butter and eggs firm.

Egg futures slipped back ⅛ to ½ cent on the Chicago mercantile exchange yesterday, moderate pressure developing on the bearish monthly cold storage estimate. Butter closed unchanged to ¼ cent lower. Trading was quiet.

The monthly egg report indicated supplies somewhat heavier than anticipated and in addition weekly and daily figures were less favorable, ten cities last week moving 48,000 cases less out than last year. After the early decline, however, the market steadied and showed little feature for the rest of the day.

The monthly butter report proved neutral, holdings totalling about as expected. The daily four market movement improved, withdrawals totalling 70,000 pounds compared with an input of 260,000 pounds a year ago. The futures were almost without feature.

Sharp Advance in Grains at Chicago

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 16—(AP)—With corn showing most strength, grain prices averaged higher early today, influenced by resting purchase orders that virtually ignored extreem weakness in foreign markets.

Opening ⅜ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher, May 99¾c@$1.00, wheat later scored fractional gains. Corn started ⅛ to ⅝ cent higher, May 78¾@79⅛c, and then held close to the initial range.

Market bulls derived some encouragement from reports of dust storms in parts of Kansas and Nebraska, giving further evidence of the need of rain, especially in the winter wheat belt southwest. Complaints off poor appearance of winter wheat in that region also were received.

A leading autohrity cited steady decrease in the visible supply of wheat, together with daily deficient primary receipts compared with actual consumption requirements, as further basis for purchases.

Good demand for cash wheat was a steadying factor.

Buying in May deliveries developed around the $1.00 level, but offerings increased above that figure. May reached an early high of $1.00⅜ and then reacetd. The price range during most of the session was extremely narrow.

Liverpool's early weakness was attributed to losses in prices in Argentina coming on top of favorable crop news from South America. This situation abroad was a disturbing factor in the trade here.

Independent strength in corn was attributed largely to the continuous bullish influence of the government's program to obtain options on seed.

Oats showed no tendency to follow corn, but rather held barely steady with wheat. Provisions also were about steady.

About mid-session, wheat was ⅛ cent lower to ⅜ cent higher, compared with yesterday's finish, and corn was ⅜ to ⅝ cent up.

Corn receipts in Chicago today were 46 cars, a week ago 41 and a year ago 144.

A sharp advance in prices occurred shortly before the grain market's close today on buying stimulated largely by independent strength shown in the corn pit.

A government report that because of the shortage of feed corn prices may be expected to remain at a relatively high level was interpreted bullishly by many traders and corn futures advanced to a new high since late in September in the face of free profit taking.

Corn closed 1⅜ to 2 cents higher than yesterday's finish, May at 80⅜@½c and wheat showed gains ranging from 1¼ to 1¾ cents, May closing at $1.01⅜@½. Oats gained about a cent and provisions were slightly higher.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—(AP)—U. S. government securities ruled uniformly higher today, but other sections of the bond market were spotty. Investment interest was at low ebb.

There were fairly heavy dealings in the Home Owners Loans at prices well above the previous finals.

Treasuries ranged 1-32nd to 11-32nds higher with the best gain in the 3¼s of 1941, which sold at 103.34. Liberties also improved in a small way.

Small gains outnumbered losses in the corporate division. Baltimore & Ohio 4½s edged up to 57, St. Paul 5s to 27½. International Telephone 5s to 59½, Nickel Plate 4½s to 57¼ and Pennsylvania general 4½s to 101⅝. Postal Telegraph 5s advanced about a point.

Unimportant dealings accompanied slightly lower prices in Allegheny Corp. 5s of 1950. Armour & Co. 4½s, Consolidated Gas of New York 5½s, Youngstown Sheet & Tube 5s and Goodyear 5s.

There were few noteworthy price changes in the foreign department. Austrian 7s rose 1½ points to 70½.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—(AP)—Speculative sentiment improved on the curb exchange today and leading shares advanced minor fractions to a point or more, in an active market. A large turnover was made in numerous issues, especially utilities

Specialties again were the widest movers and such issues as Montreal Light, Heat & Power, Mountain States T. & T., Parker Rust Proof and Scovill Mfg. gained 1 to 2 points. Adams Mills first preferred advanced 3 and Gulf Oil and Pond Creek Pocahontas were nearly that much higher.

Issues advancing around ½ point included Swift & Co., Sherwin Williams, Newmont Mining, International Petroleum, Hiram Walkre, Electric Bond & Share, Creole Petroleum, American Gas, American Cyanamid "B" and Aluminum Co.

Wall Street Briefs

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—(AP)—Of the 53 roads to which loans have been made by the Railroad Credit corporation in order to meet fixed interest obligations, 13 have repaid in full, while all the others have reduced the loans, the corporation announced today. Total loans to the 53 roads amounted to $73,691,368. The balance outstanding is $57,403,421.

The American Institute of Steel Construction in a bulletin issued today said "the autumn slump was especially notable in the bookings of fabricated structural steel because it tended to run counter to the experience of 1933." Preliminary reports to the institute from 66 per cent of the industry showed that September bookings were less than half the average monthly bookings during the first half of this year and nearly 40 per cent less than the same month last year. Shipments were 26 per cent above September last year, but less than the shipments of August. Bookings have declined although they are still larger than at this time last year.

Consumption of sugar in the fourteen principal European countries during the crop year ended August 31 totaled 7,344,134 long tons, raw sugar value, against 7,138,671 tons tons consumed during the previous year, according to Lamborn & Co., sugar brokers. Production during the same period amounted to 5,452,599 tons, an increase of 332,721 tons over that of last year.

Grain Notes

CHICAGO, Oct. 16—(AP)—Wheat which had been purchased last week on bullish news from Washington was liquidated yesterday after word was received that an attempt would be made in the next session of congress to expand the authority of the department of agriculture in the regulation of commodity markets. Wheat was barely able to retain the $1.00 a bushel quotation under the selling pressure. Corn was not affected by the report and closed higher on the strength of an announcement by the agricultural adjustment administration that option contracts of $1.00 a bushel will be offered to farmers for quality seed corn sealed on farms as security for the 55-cent corn loans by the Commodity Credit corporation.

The small movement of corn and wheat to terminals has reduced the visible supply of these grains. A decrease of 2,151,000 bushels to 108,248,000 bushels was reported for last week in the supply of wheat. This is the smallest supply of the grain since last July 21 and compares with a total supply of 149,572,000 bushels a year ago. Last week's decrease in corn stocks was 561,000 bushels, leaving a total of 58,179,000 bushels, or 1,065,000 bushels below the total a year ago.

Foreign grain has been shipped to the United States in liberal quantity despite high import taxes. Duluth receipts of foreign wheat for September totaled 1,180,000 bushels, most of which presumably was Canadian Durums. Lake Michigan ports reported total receipts of 226,000 bushels of rye, 537,000 bushels of oats and 248,000 bushels barley during the month.

Volunteer Firemen Gathering In Omaha

Scottsbluff Seeks Next Convention of Association, Seward Man Seeking Office.

OMAHA, Oct. 16 — (AP) — By auto, bus and train the volunteer firemen of Nebraska moved into Omaha today for the opening session of their annual convention.

Among the early arrivals was a large group from Norfolk. Headed by a drum and bugle corps the Norfolk group paraded the downtown streets at noon.

The convention is the first one to be held in Omaha and is the first to which women have been invited. A parade and field day are planned for Wednesday.

From Scottsbluff, 400 miles distance by air, came a delegation bringing gifts from the North Platte valley. The Scottsbluff delegates were Mayor A. T. Howard, Fire Chief A. T. Middaugh and H. J. Dollinger, secretary of the Scottsbluff chamber of commerce.

Their plane carried heaping baskets of giant potatoes, sacks of beet sugar, cheese, butter, flour, beans, bacon and other products of the valley.

Besides the three who came by air, there were 31 other delegates on hand from Scottsbluff, all determined to win the 1935 convention for that city.

The convention swung into its business affairs Tuesday afternoon with a session at which officers and cities seeking the 1935 convention were to be nominated.

A small red truck that shoots a two foot stream of water held the attention of many. The truck was brought here by the Seward delegation in the interests of the candidacy of Fay H. Wood of Seward for second vice president.

Porterfield Speaks In Behalf Arboretum

Stresses Rapidity With Which Forests Are Being Removed In Talk to Rotarians.

Harold B. Porterfield, secretary to Governor Bryan and state chairman of the V. F. W. Arboretum committee, spoke at the Tuesday noon meeting of the Rotary club at the Lincoln hotel, when he discussed the proposition of creating a national arboretum at Nebraska City.

"Of the 1902 millions of acres of land within our boundaries, over 800 million acres were once forested," he said." Now that our forests have been ruthlessly destroyed, carelessly managed and reduced to the point where real dangers confront us, we are commencing to have a proper appreciation of the many values of this great national resource.

We still have about 600 million acres of forest land. Our virgin forests, however, have almost all gone and the second growth timber has been unnecessarily damaged. Our wood supply, is being used at the rate of 60 million board feet annually, whereas the annual growth is probably less than 10 billion feet."

He declared that the results of the rapidly approaching forest bankruptcy are more apparent in some respects in other parts of our country than in the middle-west, for industries based on forest products have closed up, causing the shifting of population and wide-spread unemployment.

Prohibition Repeal Campaign Is Opened

Brome Says That Dry States Will Become Mecca of Bootleggers, Ruthless In Methods.

OMAHA, Oct. 16—(AP)—Clint Brome, Omaha attorney and former Omaha American Legion post commander, opened a statewide campaign for repeal of the state prohibition amendment here today with an address in which he asked both wets and drys to consider dispassionately what is best for Nebraska in view of present day developments.

"The field of the bootlegger is gradually being limited to those states in which liquor is prohibited. The few dry states remaining, of which Nebraska is one, are rapidly becoming a mecca for organized bootleggers. They are ruthless in their struggle for control of the illicit market," he said.

He concluded by saying defeat of repeal might be construed by the state legislature as a mandate to repeal the law under which beer and light wines are now being sold and that if this is not done the constitutionality of the law would be attacked in the courts with the chances of winning in favor of the dry forces.

MINERS' DEATH SIEGE ENDS AS DEMANDS MET

Most of 1,200 Starved Men Stagger Into Arms of Wives.

PECS, Hungary, Oct. 16—(AP)—Twelve hundred miners, 100 of them only half conscious, came back from the black depths of the mines today, victorious in their "suicide strike."

Not too soon did the men bring to a close their self-imposed imprisonment. The semi-conscious men were suffering from gas poisoning and exposure after 110 hours in the pits.

Even the more robust were haggard, but joyful.

The men will receive a winter bonus of $3 each, and instead of an 8 per cent wage cut, a Christmas bonus of the same amount.

There were dramatic scenes as the miners reached the pit mouth to be welcomed by wives and children, who had waited long days for the moment.

Joyful at Outcome.

Soldiers and militiamen with machine guns and rifles also waited and gave the mine surface the appearance of an army camp. Men and women alike were joyful at the outcome.

Police denied any men perished in the pits.

For 110 hours the men had remained deep in the earth, sending back word they preferred death to surrender. They wanted more money and more work than the $2 and two days weekly they have been getting.

Mine owners and the government reached an agreement. Peace emissaries were allowed by the strikers' guards to go below with the offer and the men debated. At daylight they came out.

SETTING UP INDIAN GROUP IN MUSEUM

The bronze-coated, plaster paris Sioux Indian group, the work of Ellis L. Burman, Lincoln sculptor, was being set up by Burman at the state historical society museum in the state capitol Tuesday. Burman executed the group, that has caused much favorable comment in Nebraska art circles, under the CWA public works of art program. It took him six months to complete this composite piece of an Indian brave examining an arrow while his wife and son look on.

Burman, who is a graduate of the Chicago Art institute, used photographs to catch the Indian features; his wife posed in the dress of the wife of Chief Crazy Horse and his son was the model for the Indian boy.

REJECT GRAVEL BID.

New bids will be advertised and a new award made, Lobdell said. The low bid rejected was submitted by Einung Bros. of Wayne at the letting Oct. 4.

Say Former Omaha Man Wrongfully Took NRA Checks

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—(AP)—A former employe of NRA was arrested here Monday on charges that he had received and cashed government pay checks after being discharged from the blue eagle agency last June. Police said the man, Albyn F. McCulloh, 29, a native of Omaha, who came to Washington from Winetta, Mont., was notified his services with NRA would be terminated June 15. But, they said, his name was not stricken from the payroll and he had been reporting twice a month to collect the pay checks.

Likes the Fair

CHICAGO, Oct. 16—(AP)—Ruby Phelps has a strong claim on sightseeing honors at the world's fair. In the last two years, she has visited the exposition 300 times She estimated she has spent 1,500 hours in the various exhibits.

U. S. Bridge Team Trailing British

LONDON, Oct. 16—(AP)—The United States' defenders of the Schwab bridge trophy entered the second day of the international match against England today 2,510 points behind with 240 boards to be played.

The score, after 60 boards was: England, 20,310 points. United States, 17,800 points.

A good share of the American deficit was contributed by the fact that Mrs. Ely Culbertson and Albert Morehead threw in two hands which R. Lederer and R. Rose of the British team, playing in the other room, found good enough for game bids.

On one of these occasions the English team bid four hearts and made 11 tricks for a clear 650-point gain and another time bid and made five diamonds for 500 points.

Thus far the rival teams, which are relying on different systems, have failed to show any marked superiority one way or the other.

BALLER STRIVES STRENGTHEN LINE

Lincoln Hi Coach Seeks Prevent Repetition Friday Disaster.

A previously uncrossed goal line was profaned four times by the marauding cleats of an opposing eleven Friday afternoon as Sioux City Central took a 26 to 14 victory from the Lincoln high club, wherefore the present week will be spent in seeing that a similar desecration is not perpetrated by the Railsplitters of Council Bluffs this week.

The invading Little Maroons pierced the Red and Black forward wall most spectacularly in the third quarter when they marched 70 yards by five consecutive first downs, every play going directly throught the center sector. The Central line, from tackle to tackle, just charged straight ahead, with a ball-carrier in the wake of the advance or a wide gap was ripped by blockers, and the backs dashed through unmolested.

Vulnerable Spots Located.

The Ballermen were not stooges for a superior eleven, but vulnerable spots were located and full advantage will be taken of the discoveries. The Lincoln high mentor is faced this week with the problem of plugging the holes in his defense.

Abraham Lincoln of Council Bluffs, Lincoln's next opponent, always puts a capable eleven on the field but a ray of hope is provided by Omaha Central's Friday victory of 7 to 0 over the Lynxmen. The Omaha club fell, 18 to 0, before the Red and Black a week ago. East high of Sioux City has also registered a win over the Council Bluffs crew.

With the current difficulties coming in the middle of the line, center and guard replacements will be in order on Oval field this week. Guard substitutions were made freely Friday during the game.

Dobson may be shifted back to his old center job, although it is more probable that Ramey will be left there and the former first-string pivot man groomed at a guard post. Benson, a capable and willing, though inexperienced performer, is available as reserve center.

Seven Guard Candidates.

The guards in line for service are Mayne, Dobson, Theobald, Sepron, Stanley, Brewster and Porter. Garrison who is now a tackle but has played guard this season may be shifted back next to the center again. Brewster, Stanley and Porter, all relatively untried youngsters, probably will get their chance at a first-string guard berth.

The Red and Black tackles, Schwartzkopf and Fuenning, were handling their assignments creditably enough against Central although neither one of them performed as well as against Omaha the week before. Helzer and Garrison, reserve tackles, may get a lot of attention this week.

Bob Mills, regular end, was obviously in pain throughout the entire Sioux City game Friday as he remained in the lineup despite a severely wrenched ankle that has bothered him for two weeks. Wing reserves, Binger and Hitchcock, probably will be groomed to assume more of the flank burdens than formerly.

North Platte Gets Increase For Jail

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—(AP)—The public works administration today increased 11 allotments approved previously for non-federal projects. The increases were made because construction costs will exceed the estimates on which the allotments originally were based or because the scope of the projects has been enlarged.

The increases included: North Platte, Neb., $12,200 to $14,600 for a county jail.

In Capital City Grid Camps

LINCOLN RESERVES.

Facing a Friday engagement with Jackson, which is rated as just about the team to beat for the Greater Lincoln League title this fall, the Lincoln high Reserves plunged into serious work Monday afternoon on Oval field.

The outstanding development of last week, as a host of candidates vied for berths on the Reserve eleven, was the shift of Griswold to center from a guard post. Griswold probably will start the Jackson game at center, with Cochrane and Townsend in reserve.

Five guards, led by Eichler and Hill are contending for jobs and all will be given a chance this week. The other three are Feaster, Hager and Krieger. Goodale and Challstrom are first-choice tackles, with Hahn and Schleich in reserve. Gorton, a tackle, has been shifted to end, where he will divide time with either Folsom or Emnen, first-string wingmen.

Coach Ralph Andrews' backfield will be much the same as it was last week during workouts, with emphasis this week on developing an aerial threat built around Paul Beck, lanky halfback.

The Reserves will be outweighed by Jackson and will also suffer in comparison from the point of experienced men. Andrews' eleven was riddled a week ago, when Baller took a number of Reserve performers to the first squad as replacements for first team berths.

CATHEDRAL.

A nocturnal tilt at Wymore occupies the Cathedral high grid squad this week as drill sessions are conducted by Father Obrist and his assistant, Voris Peden. The floodlight affair is carded for Friday evening.

Without enough men to hold a regulation scrimmage, Peden went to work Monday on the running game in an effort to make it an effective weapon for use against Wymore. The Cathedral passing attack has shown to better advantage than the ground offense in games to date.

No changes in lineup are anticipated by Peden, although Sawdon may get a chance at Curtis' halfback this week, as the latter twisted his ankle Monday afternoon. The rest of the backfield will be made up of Malone, quarterback, McManus, halfback, and Alesio, fullback.

Costello and Kilcoyne continue to get the call at ends, Captain Brick and Neal at tackles, Drew and Haberlan at guards, and Jaworski at center. Both Costello and Kilcoyne are adept at pass-snatching, and Costello is called back into the backfield to do all of the punting.

JACKSON.

A new face likely will be seen in the Jackson high school backfield this week when the Crimson entertains the Lincoln Reserves in a Greater Lincoln league game. The newcomer, Harry Pitcaithley, won his spurs as the Jackson reserves were walloping the Crete seconds Saturday morning, 25-0, and is slated to replace either Don Gun or Chick Donahoo in the starting lineup against the Lincoln understudies.

Pitcaithley, according to Coach Ralph Beechner, showed so well in the game with the Crete seconds that the Cardinal mentors, Pop Klein and Don Shoup, accused Beechner of using a first-team man in the reserve game. Harry has a habit of shifting his hips away from a tackler which produced results very gratifying to the Jackson tutor and proved that he could lug the leather with a high degree of proficiency.

The entire Jackson squad came through the College View game without injury and Beechner can start his top eleven. The search still goes on, however, for a tackle of enough ability to plug a hole in the Crimson line, the one spot where College View made its yardage. Beechner is thinking of shifting Ralph Currier center, to tackle when the Crimson is on defense, as Currier's 200-odd pounds make him somewhat tough to displace.

BETHANY.

With Johnny Staten's inclusion in the starting backfield this week nothing more than a possibility, Coach Forrest Clark is drilling his Bethany high school gridders rather intensively for the game with Sterling on the Comer field next Friday. Bethany's only start this fall resulted in a 6-0 loss to the Lincoln Reserves.

Staten wrenched his leg in a practice scrimmage three weeks ago and was on crutches for several days. He played in the Lincoln Reserve game, however, and was carried off the field in the third period with the same injury aggravated. Coach Clark may leave the regular fullback on the bench against Sterling and save him for the resumption of play in the Greater Lincoln league.

Warren Baldwin, diminutive quarterback, apparently has worked his way into the starting backfield, whether Staten is able to play or not. Baldwin, brother of the Bethany's 1933 captain and quarterback, is playing his first season and turned in a good performance against the Lincoln seconds.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS—By JOHN HIX

For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Julius Caesar, who ruled Rome in the first century before Christ, was never its emperor. He was dictator and his word was virtually law, but he never was emperor in name or in fact. The Roman Empire was not established until 17 years after Julius Caesar was assassinated by a conspiracy of senators.

His fame was so great that years after his death the name Caesar became a title denoting royalty, and later Roman emperors incorporated the word Caesar into their own titles to mean ruler. The title persisted in use, though slightly altered, for rulers up to the closing days of the World war—for the titles "Czar" in Russia, and "Kaiser" in Germany were derived from the name of Julius Caesar.

Under him the Roman government remained a republic in theory, but after he won popular support with his military victories he was an easy victor in a civil war against Pompey and the Senate. Caesar was immediately made dictator for a year, consul for five years, and tribune for life. Subsequent victories brought him higher honors, and extended his dictatorship to 10 years.

Histories report that he was offered a crown and that he declined. In Antony's famous funeral oration in Shakespeare has it that he was offered the crown three times.

Tomorrow: The punster's fate.

THE COMING Real Estate Boom in farms and city real estate. Roger Babson predicts that we are now building a base upon which a tremendous credit expansion will take place. Credit inflation would be accompanied by a period of great prosperity with much higher real estate prices. Before next spring many will say, "I ought to have bought that farm or that lot last fall, it will now cost me nearly double what I could have purchased it for." We have for sale either farms or city real estate at today's bottom prices. Call or write us for our list. Woods Brothers Company, 132 So. 13th St. B6744. Lincoln, Nebraska.
